AUTOMOBILES FLASH BY CHURCH AS MASS IS SAID FOR BOY VICTIM

Scenes at funeral of John Eisele at Sacred Heart Church Wednesday.

Cars Seem to Purr Dirge for Funeral of John Eisel—Weeping Schoolmates Attend.

The great organ boomed in the Sacred Heart Church Wednesday and Father Guyman began the mass, while down in the aisle before the central altar, and flanked with tall tapers, stood the little flower-covered casket of John Eisele.

And outside the church, just over in Peachtree street, the motor cars flashed back and forth in the morning sun, with no hint in their swift flight that one of their kind had struck the life out of the little boy two days ago.

Children Show Grief. The small faces were very solemn. In John's class, near the front, there was weeping among the little girls and furtive dabs of handkerchiefs at the eyes of little boys.

all the church rested for a moment on the white casket and the flowers—and it came through the window where the little boy, Christ, stood teaching in the Temple.

RIOTING IN INDIANAPOLIS CAR STRIKE

Police Officials Refuse to Put Men on Trolleys to Protect Non-Union Crews.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—Rioting in the trolley strike here was resumed this forenoon when a street car, manned by imported strike-breakers and escorted by mounted men and policemen on foot, was blockaded by a large crowd at Illinois and North streets shortly having succeeded in covering a mile of the trip.

Sticks and other missiles were hurled until the strike-breakers were driven terror-stricken and crouching in the bottom of the car begged for mercy and protection from the police. None of the police would board the car.

Six strike-breakers were injured. Motorist Sullivan, of Chicago, is unconscious from being hit with bricks.

No Policemen on Cars.

Police Captain Kruger, in instructing the patrolmen to roll call to-day, issued no orders that the men should board the cars if an attempt is made to run them. The men should walk alongside them, he said, adding that there is not a man present who wants to get on them.

When Sheriff Porteus was asked if he would order his deputies, who are all business and professional men, on the cars in case he decided to take a hand in the car strike, he declared it was not up to the Sheriff's office to run the cars. The Sheriff said many of the business men deputies had submitted certificates that they were unable to serve as deputy sheriffs. Another list will be made out to fill these vacancies.

The street car company refuses to entertain a proposition to arbitrate and will not attempt to run cars with the imported strike-breakers until what they deem sufficient protection with policemen on the cars is furnished.

Business Suffers Heavily.

The police refuse to mount cars and are sustained by their superiors. The Governor will not call State troops except as a last resort.

Meanwhile business is suffering heavy losses. Workmen and others are paying from 10 cents to 25 cents to get to their places of occupation or business in the morning and higher rates to get back home at night.

Every conceivable kind of conveyance is being used from roller skates to motor moving vans.

CHIEF'S POLICIES SUPPORTED BY JOHNSON

Police Commissioner Not Seeking Leadership of Board—Will Run for Recorder.

Police Commissioner George E. Johnson, regarded as one of the leaders in the minority opposition to Police Chief Beavers in the Police Commission, has come out as a strong and full-fledged backer of the chief and his policies.

"I will stand by Chief Beavers and support him to the utmost of my ability so long as he enforces the law," said Commissioner Johnson to a Georgian reporter Wednesday.

"This has been my attitude toward every police chief during my service as Police Commissioner, and it is distasteful to me to be placed in a false light," he added.

At the same time, Commissioner Johnson outlined his future political policy. He set at rest persistent reports and rumors that he is seeking the chairmanship of the Police Commission next March, when Chairman Carlos Mason will retire.

But he announced himself squarely in the race for Recorder next year. He said:

"I am not in the race for chairman of the Police Commission, neither am I a candidate for Sheriff, but I want all of the boys to remember me for Recorder next year."

This announcement presages another spirited fight for the Recorder's job. It is known that Recorder Broyles will make the race for the State Court of Appeals, and should he be elevated to that bench, Mr. Johnson is expected to have plenty of company to make the fight interesting.

Mr. Johnson, it will be remembered, put up a hot fight for Recorder in the last election.

MANY HEAR DR. WHITE.

Submits Again to Knife to Prove Her Appendix Removed

SPOKANE, Nov. 5.—Convinced that her appendix was removed during an operation performed for another disorder a year ago by Dr. T. E. Hoxsey and other physicians, Mrs. Lydia Murray, who was ordered by a jury in the Superior Court last month to pay the physician $285 for services, has undergone a second operation to prove that she lost her appendix at the former operation.

Following the second operation, performed recently, she has on file a motion for a new trial, declaring the operation showed the appendix had been removed.

In her affidavit filed with the motion for a new trial, Mrs. Murray says: "I am the same Lydia Murray upon whom Drs. Hoxsey and Yarnell testified they operated and did not remove my appendix."

She further alleges that she had had but one operation performed up to the time of the trial. This was by Dr. Hoxsey and assistants.

$2,500,000 Paid for Paper to Aid Kaiser

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian, BERLIN, Nov. 5.—It is reported here that $2,500,000 has been paid to retain a newspaper moustache for the Kaiser's use.

The money was paid to the August Scherl Newspaper Company, owners of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, in return for a pledge to keep the paper constantly at the Government's disposal.

This announcement presages another spirited fight for the Recorder's job. It is known that Recorder Broyles will make the race for the State Court of Appeals, and should he be elevated to that bench, Mr. Johnson is expected to have plenty of company to make the fight interesting.

Mr. Johnson, it will be remembered, put up a hot fight for Recorder in the last election.

50 Dead in French Wreck; Engineer of Express Arrested

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian, PARIS, Nov. 5.—The victims of the disastrous collision last night between a mail train and the Marseilles-Paris day express on the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railway at Melun probably will be more than fifty.

M. Herriot, Mayor of Lyons, is believed to be among the dead. Most of the other victims were mail clerks. Seventy-five persons were injured, some of them fatally.

The wreck, the worst in the history of French railroading, will be investigated. The engineer of the express train, who is charged with running by stop signals, was arrested. The express train was a favorite for tourists, but so far as could be learned no American were among the victims.

INDIVIDUALITY In Evening Dress

Not since Beau Brummel's day have evening clothes styles offered so wide a latitude for the expression of elegant individuality.

Take the vests, for instance. Vests of fine tuckered silk will be correct either in white or black. Black figured velvet is also shown with satin-faced lapels.

The newest shirts are fine tuckered linen and pique with semi-stiff bosom. For those who prefer soft silk shirts, we have a splendid array.

The new tie is of tuckered silk, either white or black, usually to match the vest. Also black with very narrow white edging, and vice versa. The "stock" is also elegant and correct.

The new hat is medium flat brim and medium high crown, with the smartest lines seen in years.

We invite you to see the newest and richest line of these goods ever shown in Atlanta.

DINNER HERE ON GEORGIA DAY FOR 1,500

Great Feast of Home Grown Products Will Be Spread at Auditorium November 18.

A meeting of Atlanta merchants and manufacturers to arrange the details of the local celebration of Georgia Products Day on November 18 has been called for Thursday afternoon by the secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. It is proposed to spread a monstrous feast, with seats for about 1,500 persons, at the Auditorium, where the menu that wins the prize offered by the State Chamber of Commerce will be served.

Fifty young ladies selected from the various girls' colleges about Atlanta will act as waitresses, and incidentally, inasmuch as they will all be Georgia girls, will form a fascinating exhibit of Georgia beauty.

Nothing but Atlanta and Georgia will be in evidence at the banquet. Everything there to eat will be Georgia-grown, and every word uttered by the speakers will be in eulogy of the Empire State. The details will not be fully announced until after tomorrow's meeting, but it is proposed to make the banquet the biggest thing ever held in Atlanta.

Haden Finds Much Interest. Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, returned to Atlanta Wednesday morning after a whirlwind tour of the State in the interest of the organization. He declares that Georgians throughout the State are manifesting great interest in "Georgia Products Day."

"Everywhere I went I found great enthusiasm and a spirit that should bring great results," declared Mr. Haden. "There will be not less than 200 'Boost Georgia' banquets on November 18. I found proclamations being issued by Mayors all over the State, supplementing the one issued by Governor Slaton, and in many of the towns mass meetings have already been held and committees appointed to arrange for the banquet."

"Many of the counties are planning to make the day an occasion for the display of their county products. For instance, at Clarksville, the county seat of Habersham County, I was told that the banquet at that place will be spread by a menu of more than 200 dishes, every item of which will be grown in that county. Many other counties expect to follow the same plan."

"At most of the hotels at which I stopped I was told that arrangements are being made to serve a Georgia dinner on that day."

Whole State Enthused. The menu contest is attracting wide attention, and housewives and epicures from all parts of the State are sending in their ideas of what a real Georgia dinner should consist.

Here is one of the menus received from a contestant in Chatham County:

Chatham County oyster cocktail or grapefruit, turtle soup, tomato bouillon, terrapin stew, sweet peach pickles, celery, mixed pickles, baked trout, corn pone dressing, mixed pecans, roast turkey, chestnut stuffing, Georgia rice, giblet gravy, boiled (Brooks County) ham, prime rib of roast beef, roast goose, white potato dressing, possum, baked sweet potatoes, rabbits, roast pork, "Irish" turkeys, mashed (Bartow County); roast chicken, quail (Lowndes County Mayhaw jelly), creamed onions, corn cobbler baked in shell, string beans, salads, artichokes, asparagus and pepper salads, lettuce with cream dressing, coleslaw, buttered beets, sliced tomatoes; desserts, apple, pumpkin and sweet potato pie or potato pone, butter sauce, peach or strawberry ice cream, pound cake, John B. Gordon cake, crackers, pecans, English and black walnuts, apples.

The following menu was prepared by J. Lee Barnes, president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's Association, who will send it to the hotels of the larger cities of the State, such as Atlanta, Savannah, Macon and Augusta, with the request that it be used on "Georgia Products Day."

Oysters on half shell, cream of chicken, white plume celery, young onions, Hastings' radishes, broiled Savannah River shad, shoestring potatoes, braised oysters, roast turkey, Georgia-raised beef, brown gravy, roast young turkey, chestnut dressing, mashed potatoes, steamed rice, asparagus on toast, lettuce and tomato salad, hot peas and egg bread, Metropolitan ice cream, assorted cakes, peach pie, cream cheese, tea flake crackers, roasted coffee, sweet and butter milk, mixed nuts, cigars, cigarettes.

SLAP COSTS $20. WAYCROSS, Nov. 5.—It cost J. Rosenbush, a well-known Paint Avenue merchant, $25 for slapping the six-year-old son of Sam Rosenveig, when Rosenbush was tried in recorder's court.

Burleson to Send Experts to Improve Atlanta Postoffice

Atlanta's postoffice is to be made one of the most perfect that human ingenuity can make it under the efficiency campaign of Postmaster General Burleson. Goodwin D. Ellsworth, an expert of the department, will be sent to Atlanta with three assistants, with the view of carefully investigating the system under which the local office is operating and co-operate with the employees in the effort to improve it.

Mr. Ellsworth and his assistants will work directly with Postmaster Boling Jones, and all suggestions they have as to the betterment of the service will be made to him. Announcement has been made from department headquarters in Washington that it was desired to make Atlanta a model office, and then develop the other offices throughout the country along the lines found most successful here.

Savannah and Richmond will be visited by the efficiency experts after the conclusion of their work in Atlanta.

ATLANTA SIDEWALKS BECOME BALLROOMS

Down the halls of the schools, on the front lawn and at home, and even on the street, the Futurist Twirl, the very newest of the new dances, is being practiced. It's the fastest one stepping slip sliding shuffle since the Turkey Trot, and for contortional bends and curves would make the twisting "grapevine wiggie" seek a hiding place.

What next? The fat man who liked to dance hates to think about what the next dance will be, but if it goes ahead of the Futurist Twirl it will be some speeder.

It was out on Oak street that two young ladies decided to try the Futurist Twirl. The street was deserted and it certainly looked like no one would see them. Bending, dipping, sliding, skipping, they glided about on the pavement.

"Click! click!"

The girls screamed, but the Futurist Twirl was imprinted on a plate in the camera man's machine.

The girls were Miss Margaret Carlisle and Miss Anita Lawson, two of the prettiest girls in West End.

COTTON PICKING RAISES $250 OF CHURCH DEBT

Members of Oakland City Baptist Congregation Go to Work as Field Hands.

Persons passing by the cottonfield of A. P. Morgan in Oakland City Tuesday were astounded by the spectacle of girls, young women and staid matrons industriously picking the white fleecy bloom and stowing it away in capacious sacks and bags.

The Oakland City Baptist Church is more than a hundred dollars richer today as a result of their endeavors. The members of the Ladies' Aid Society a short time ago assumed $250 of the $1,700 debt which burdens the congregation from the erection of a new church in 1909. They already have paid off $125 of their subscription, and hit upon the novel plan of picking cotton to raise the remainder of it.

Not many of them were accustomed to the hard work of the cotton field and several of them fell by the wayside as the day progressed. Besides the regular pay of 50 cents a hundred pounds given to all the pickers, prizes were given to the women who picked the greatest amount in the same space of time.

Dr. A. C. Ward has been pastor of the church since it was built.

Here are those who joined in the day's picking:

Meadames J. N. Tabler, C. M. Tucker, Guy Tabler, W. R. Fuller, E. M. Pain, A. H. Chapman, A. P. Morgan, A. C. Ward, I. N. Ragsdale, Virgil Phillips, W. D. Friel, S. M. Burke, J. J. ## All Around The Town

Little Facts and Fancies About Well-Known Atlantans.

Claude N. Bennett, of Washington, D. C., a former Atlantan who has made mighty good in the National Capital, is spending a few days here. Mr. Bennett is full of enthusiasm over the opening of the Panama Canal, and thinks it will mean great things for Dixie.

"The South will blossom and wax fat as it never before has blossomed and waxed," said Mr. Bennett, at the Ansley to-day. "The opening of the big waterway means more to Dixie than it means to all the rest of the world combined. I really believe it will bring millions into the South in manufacturing investments. In Washington, where the purposes of the canal are understood better than elsewhere, the prediction is freely made in official and non-official circles that the Panama Canal is to be pre-eminently the South's big opportunity."

It is one thing for a man to have a pair of shoes, and quite another to have a pair of "regular shoes."

W. W. Kilpatrick and Henry Robinson, secretaries to W. H. Leahy and W. G. Cooper, of the Chamber of Commerce, blossomed out in new shoes at the same time last week, and for several days it is stated on good authority that there was much scuffling around and elevating of feet to desks and other maneuvers that tended to show the "regular shoes." Not that there is any great news in this, but buying a new pair of shoes at the same time, but well, Kilpatrick and Robinson have 'em, anyway.

As a hotel clerk, C. J. Blanchard at the Piedmont sees a lot of things ordinary mortals never even hear of, and it takes a whole lot to startle him. However, he was a trifle shaken recently when he learned that one night he gave a man a key and allowed him to occupy a room at the Piedmont, when in reality the man was a guest at the Ansley. It appeared this way: A young man came here from Jacksonville and got a room at the Ansley. After an evening of strenuous adventure among the clubs and the cabarets he ambled into the Piedmont in the wee small hours and asked calmly for a key, the number of which corresponded to the number of his room at the Ansley. Blanchard thought nothing of it and gave him the key. Luckily the room was unoccupied, and the bibulous young man got right on the floor. The next morning he had to pay for the room and also for the one at the Ansley.

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

The Ideal One is a Mild Laxative-Tonic that Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active.

MRS. MARY A. P. DAVIDSON.

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following is to take a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University Mound Home, San Francisco, Cal. She is 78 and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy.

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty-cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it post-paid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

DANGER!

THE man who assumes a MORTGAGE is placing himself on DANGEROUS GROUND! It's unbusinesslike, too!

It's unbusinesslike because the INTEREST on the mortgage will make an awful "hole" into your salary—it's dangerous because when you give another a MORTGAGE on your home, you ACTUALLY give him a "string" on it. You URK your HAPPINESS!

When the mortgage falls due—and, if for any reason you can't pay it—if, for instance, because of a stringency in the money market, you can't get a new loan—then the other fellow "pulls the string"—forecloses the mortgage—and YOU lose your home!

DON'T pay rent! DON'T assume a mortgage! Let us tell you about the handsome home we can SELL you on the DIVIDED PAYMENT PLAN—namely, for a TRIVIAL amount down, and as little as $1 a month, while you occupy the house, NO MORTGAGE to assume!

We will SELL you a splendid home, on the aforesaid easy terms, at CAPITOL VIEW, which is inside of the 18-minute street car ride from the neighborhood—only an 18-minute street car ride from the neighborhood. It costs NOTHING to INVESTIGATE. So why not INVESTIGATE? Phone us—or call at our office—for full information!

PROPERTY SALE KEY TO DIXIE'S PROSPERITY

Hemphill Holdings Bring $700 Per Foot—Means Good Times, Says E. P. Ansley.

With regard to the sale of the W. A. Hemphill estate property, which brought up to $700 a front foot at the corner of Marietta and Foundry streets Tuesday, Edwin P. Ansley talked of its indication that the tide of prosperity has turned—and turned Southward.

"Ninety days ago," said Mr. Ansley Wednesday morning, "I did not believe it would be a wise thing to put this property on the market. Conditions were unsettled in Washington, especially in regard to the currency and tariff legislation.

"Now all that is pretty well settled. The tariff bugaboo is dead, and the President is likely to have his way with the currency bill. That will afford certain relief from panic conditions as in 1907 and impending panic scares, as of this year.

"Then I have looked over part of the South, as it were. Two automobile trips, covering about 2,000 miles in Georgia and Western Alabama, have convinced me that this territory will have good times after the crops are in, no matter what happened in Washington, or what financial conditions were in New York. That is the thing that induced me to try to prove, in my recent advertisements, my faith in the return of good times. It is a serious mistake for people with funds to invest to adopt a waiting policy.

"After the currency bill is passed there is sure to be a rush of investors who have been holding their money for the last twelve months. Consequently, money will not have the same purchasing power it has to-day, when there isn't so much of it in sight.

"The large crowd of investors at the Hemphill sale and the spirited bidding proved to me that our own people have plenty of confidence in the continued growth of Atlanta and are ready to pick up any profitable investments whenever offered."

Mr. Ansley added that he expected to see the next twelve months the best in the real estate business Atlanta ever had enjoyed, and that next spring should reach the "high water mark of real estate activity."

Will Wed a Veiled Bride He Never Saw

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—To go through an entire courtship and wedding ceremony without seeing the face of his bride will be the experience of Dr. Francis W. Hartley, of No. 1204 West Fayette street, who within the next two weeks he marries Mrs. Marion C. Arnett, of Philadelphia, whom he wooed by mail.

Mrs. Arnett is a widow, 45. Dr. Hartley, 35, has been twice married. The heavy black veil which the widow Arnett will wear will not be raised until after the clergyman has pronounced the last word of the final ceremony. Dr. Hartley has consented to this unusual plan.

Bees Sting Groom; Wedding Is Halted

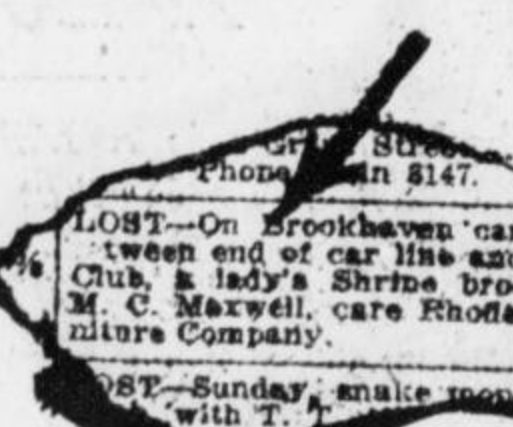

MOSELLE, MISS., Nov. 5.—Dr. R. H. Cranford, while preparing for his wedding, hitched his horse too near some beehives. The bees attacked the horse, and in unhitching the animal Dr. Cranford was so severely stung that he became unconscious. The horse wrecked the buggy and probably will die.

Dr. Cranford was revived by fellow physicians and his marriage with Miss Lena Miller took place about an hour later.

Cut in Rate Follows City Ownership Plan

GALESBURG, ILL., Nov. 5.—Following the passage of a resolution last night by the City Council to take steps looking toward the municipal manufacture and sale of electricity to consumers here, D. McAfee, local manager for the McKinley syndicate, announced this afternoon that his company would make a 25 per cent reduction in rates the first of the year.

GEORGIAN "WANT AD" FINDS SHRINE PIN UNAIDED, AFTER HOPE IS DEAD

This is the little "lost" ad which appeared in The Georgian, and here, too, is M. C. Maxwell, who set it at work. Mr. Maxwell is an advertising man, with faith in newspaper space. Even he gave up as months passed, but the want ad didn't, and now he has his pin.

Owner Quits Search, but Little Ad Doesn't. Which Is a Habit It Has.

LOST—On Brookhaven car Sunday, between end of car line and Brookhaven Club, a lady's Shriners brooch. Reward, M. C. Maxwell, care Rhodes-Wood Furniture Company. 6-1718

That was the little want ad, inserted in The Georgian two days after the brooch was lost, which was rather more than four months ago.

And for four months, and some odd days, the little want ad in The Georgian kept mighty quiet.

So it appeared to M. C. Maxwell, and to Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Maxwell treasured the brooch. It was a handsome brooch, ruby-set, made from a Shriners' pin. It was valuable. But most of all Mrs. Maxwell prized the brooch as the gift of her husband the day she became his bride.

And when the little want ad in The Georgian kept on keeping quiet for days, and then for weeks, and then for months, the Maxwells gave it up and Mrs. Maxwell resigned herself to the loss.

But the little want ad in The Georgian, while keeping quiet, was working. And, like a good many other faithful and valuable workers, it stayed on the job until it got results.

The result appeared, just four months and one week and six days from the time the little want ad got on the job.

The result was the brooch. Which was simply and precisely what the little want ad was after. It seems there was a woman who made a sort of habit of clipping "lost ads" from The Georgian and keeping them, all pasted up in order.

She found the brooch lost near the Brookhaven Club house. Then she found the want ad that was looking for the brooch. Then she followed the lead of the little want ad.

And now Mr. Maxwell, who is advertising man for the Rhodes-Wood Furniture Company, cheerfully admits that the little "want ad" in The Georgian are wonder workers, and are sure to get you what you want, when you want it.

And Mrs. Maxwell—well, she is a firm friend of The Georgian want ad. That isn't hard to understand.

When you want what you want when you want it, a Georgian want ad will get it for you.

DR. LITTLE HEADS PRESBYTERIANS

ROME, GA., Nov. 5.—Dr. A. A. Little, pastor of the Westminster Church in Atlanta, was made the moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia in session here this week.

Rev. R. O. Flinn, of Atlanta, read a report Wednesday on the work of his committee on home missions and evangelism. Another Atlanta minister, the Rev. S. L. Morris, has charge of the work on societies and organizations.

The second day of the synod will be devoted largely to a discussion of the mission movement. Among the speakers will be Dr. Clay Lilly, of Louisville; Dr. James I. Vance, of Nashville, and Dr. Edward W. Smith, of Columbia. S. C. D. Little will take part in a symposium Friday on "How the Individual Church May Become More Effective in Foreign Mission Work." The sessions will end Friday night.

More than a hundred delegates are in attendance at the synod, which is holding its meetings in the historic First Presbyterian Church. This is the church of which Dr. Edward S. Axson, father of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, was pastor for many years.

The members of the entertainment committee are John C. Printup, S. M. Lowery, Graham Wright, Roy Berry, G. E. Maddox and G. B. Holder.

373 Were Intoxicated At Big Beer Festival

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian, MUNICH, Nov. 5.—It is calculated that 1,400,000 liters of beer and 30,000 pounds of beef were consumed at the yearly "October Festival." This festival takes place on the famous "Wiese" near the Bavaria monument, and is meant to be a sort of general thanksgiving day celebrated by all the Munich people, who have remained ardent worshippers of Munich beer.

The ambulance carriages had to be called 373 times to assist or drive home those who had shown themselves too ardent worshippers of the celebrated brew.

The second day of the synod will be devoted largely to a discussion of the mission movement.

Germany Exhibit at Big Fair Assured

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian, LONDON, Nov. 5.—In spite of the refusal of the German government to participate in the Panama Pacific exhibition in San Francisco in 1915, a section has been allotted for a German exhibit. It was announced here to-day by John E. D. Trank, chief of the fine arts department of the coming fair.

Assurances have been received that there will be a German exhibit.

Thief Escorts Self To a Cell in Prison

FORT MADISON, IOWA, Nov. 5.—A local mystery caused by a well-dressed young man who had been at a hotel here for three days, and who frequently telephoned to the Iowa State prison, was explained when C. W. Sego, of Des Moines, entered the penitentiary to begin serving a sentence of fifteen years for larceny.

Sego came to Fort Madison voluntarily and without a guard, and had been trying to get inside the walls.

Socialist Town Has Lowest Birth Rate

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian, PARIS, Nov. 5.—There is an extraordinary social phenomenon at Montreaux-les-Mines, where the birth rate has fallen lower in the last three years than in 100 years in the remainder of France. The cause given is the democratic-socialistic trend of thought following two strikes.

The town once had a birth rate of 37 per thousand, it has to-day 1 per thousand.

$1,145 SPENT BY PROSECUTOR IN PHAGAN CASE

Dorsey Submits Itemized Statement of Expenses to the County Board.

A statement showing a total of $1,145.29 to have been spent by the State's Attorney in the Phagan case was filed with the County Commissioners Wednesday.

The expenses cover a number of lines along which the investigation was conducted, showing the employment of finger-print experts, handwriting experts, women detectives, artists and physicians.

An interesting item is a fee of $50 paid to Dr. H. F. Harris, Secretary of the State Board of Health, for performing a post mortem examination upon the body of Mary Phagan, and an additional $100 paid to him as a witness. Dr. John Funke, Dr. Clarence Johnson and Dr. George M. Vance received $50 each as witnesses for the State.

Miss M. S. Burge was paid $10 for detective work, C. P. Moore, $40 for detective work while various small sums were paid to city detectives for expenses. C. J. Smith received $100 for Albert S. Osborn, a handwriting expert, L. J. Fletcher and P. A. Flak, finger-print experts, received $5 and $10, respectively.

2,000 LIKELY TO ENTER CARS IN AUTO PARADE

Promoters Declare Pageant Marking Opening of Big Show Will Be a Wonder.

Peering around the Auditorium, and dodging decorations, and side-stepping piles of lumber and squads of workmen, you wouldn't think there was anything much doing in Atlanta except getting ready for the automobile show.

But up town—well, you would pretty nearly get the idea that the parade—the flower parade—was the main event.

It is going to be a huge and highly ornate affair. No doubt that J. K. Gwinner, secretary of the parade business, has sent out invitations to all the motor car owners of Atlanta, and it is an impressive list.

"There ought to be 2,000 cars in the parade," Mr. Gwinner said Wednesday. "Maybe 4,000. The idea is for everybody to get in, and if some of the owners can't get their cars elaborately decorated because of the rush on the parade, why, just get in a layout. The thing is to get Atlanta's vast throng of cars on parade before the eyes of the 30,000 visitors who will be here for the show."

Sees Great Boost for City.

Which, Mr. Gwinner fancies, would be one grand little boost of Atlanta as a center of industry for the automobile business of the South and of America.

Following the sending out of the invitations, which came in mightily being requests, Mr. Gwinner announced that the decorators are being deluged with orders by the thoughtful owners who planned not to be left out of the parade with a shift of home-grown poles.

"The firms are anticipating such a demand for decorating material," he said, "that wire orders are going out today to the Eastern markets for additional stock. And they certainly will need it, too."

Then he added that anybody could call him by telephone at the Johnson & Gwinner Company and learn the names of the decorating establishments which were undertaking the work of dressing up Atlanta's cars for the "grand entry."

Seven Judges Are Chosen.

The advent of John Philip Sousa and his big and lively band will be coincident with the parade Tuesday, November 11, and the famous bandmaster himself will present the prizes to the winners in the decorative contest at the night concert Tuesday in the Auditorium.

A fine list of judges has been selected for the arduous and not altogether enviable duty of awarding the prizes. They are Wilmer L. Moore, Fred Paxon, Colonel R. L. Lowry, Colonel W. L. Peel, Robert F. Madcox, Walter Rich and Forrest Adair, and they are not taking out any additional life insurance—yet. Their names are a sufficient guarantee that the contest in mural decorations will be conducted in a highly sportsmanlike manner, and that the awards will be as just as is humanly possible.

Down at the Auditorium the work is going forward in great shape. Gorgeous festoons and streamers of blue and white—the colors of the show—are being draped from the towering vault of the ceiling and down the walls, while pergolas of rose vines flank the walls and fill up the space not to be used by exhibitors.

The work of moving in the exhibits will begin Friday afternoon, so that all may be set for the grand opening Saturday night.

The Joy of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

Mother's Friend, a famous external remedy, is the greatest of all known that is able to reach all the different parts in...

It is a penetrating application after the formula of a noted family doctor, and lubricates every muscle, nerve, tissue or tendon affected. It goes directly to the strained portions and gently but surely relieves all tendency to soreness or strain.

By its daily use there will be no pain, no distress, no nausea, no danger of miscarriage or other accident, and the period will be one of supreme comfort and joyful anticipation.

To all young women Mother's Friend is one of the greatest of all helpful influences, for it robs childbirth of all its agonies and dangers, dispels all the doubt and dread, all sense of fear, and thus enables the mind and body to await the greatest event in a woman's life with untrammelled gladness.

Mother's Friend is a most cherished remedy in thousands of homes, and is made of such peculiar merit and value as to make it essentially one to be recommended by all women.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at a bottle, or the druggist will gladly get it for you if you insist upon it.

County to Settle Old Asphalt Account

A resolution advising the Barber Asphalt Company that a reduction of $9 per ton on asphalt sold Fulton County a year ago and charged for at the rate of $33.40 per ton, would result in the payment of the account of the company against the County, was adopted by the County Commissioners Wednesday afternoon.

The Barber Company supplied the County with a great quantity of asphalt, and a dispute developed over the price charged for it, the claim being made that the figure was excessive and not in accordance with the one agreed upon. The amount involved totals many thousands of dollars.

Defeat of Decatur Amendments Seen

Overwhelming defeat was predicted for the proposed amendments to Decatur's charter which are being voted on Wednesday. Opponents of the amendments were jubilant, claiming they had accomplished their rejection by a vote of more than two to one against.

Three hundred and ninety-four voters registered for the charter election. The amendments provided for the election by the people of Marshal, City Clerk and other officers which now are filled by the Council.

Blames Remorse for Mrs. Mock's Suicide

SAVANNAH, Nov. 5.—Mrs. James M. Mock, mother-in-law of Mrs. Albertine Mock, who committed suicide here yesterday and forced her 10-year-old daughter, Berdeen, to the same act, said to-day that it was remorse instead of despondency that brought about the double tragedy. James Mock, the suicide's husband, killed himself about three years ago in Atlanta. It was at first thought he was slain, and his wife was detained for a while.

The elder Mrs. Mock would not talk other than to vaguely accuse the dead woman of her husband's death.

Navy Officer's Wife Names Housekeeper

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Nina Chinn Walker, young society matron of Washington, who is suing Lieutenant Commander J. W. Grimes Walker, U. S. N., retired, for divorce, to-day on the witness stand said Miss Mabel Cochran, "a young, good-looking girl," was destroyer of her home.

Mrs. Walker testified that while she was in the North Carolina mountains for her health, her husband hired Miss Cochran as housekeeper and fell in love with her.

Man Caught Robbing Store Put on Trial

N. W. Miller, one of three men caught robbing a store several months ago, and who is charged with being implicated in a number of other robberies, is on trial before Judge Ben H. Hill in the felony division of the Criminal Court.

W. W. Reeves, another of the men caught, under a $5,000 bond, failed to appear in court. His bond was ordered forfeited.

The men were indicted on four charges of larceny and robbery. Solicitor Dorsey prosecuted the case.

Bank Closed by U. S. As Shortage Is Found

SUTTON, NEBR., Nov. 5.—The First National Bank here was closed to-day by orders of the Controller of the Currency. It is said a large shortage exists. The bank had about $200,000 deposits.

Atlanta Women To Donate Flag for New Court House

"Fulton County Courthouse Flag Day" will be December 9, when a number of patriotic Atlanta women will present a handsome flag to the County Commissioners. The presentation exercises will be held on the ground floor of the new courthouse. General Clifford L. Anderson will be master of ceremonies, while Chairman Shelby Smith will receive the flag for the County.

The contractors have promised to have the first floor of the building ready for occupancy by January 1, and to have two courtrooms ready for the two divisions of the Criminal Court the first week in February. They hope to complete the building in eight months.

Georgia Physicians Gather for Clinics

Modern methods of surgery were demonstrated by Georgia's most noted surgeons at the various Atlanta hospitals Wednesday in clinics that are being held in connection with the first annual meeting of the Georgia Surgeons' Club. More than 200 surgeons, many of them hailing from the smaller cities of the State, are here to attend the clinics and witness the operations. The headquarters of the convention are at the Anley Hotel.

One of the most interesting clinics of the morning, which was attended by a number of physicians, was held at the Atlanta Medical College on Butler street, where Dr. James L. Campbell operated for a disease of the kidneys and it is understood, removed an entire kidney from a patient from Cordele.

County to Settle Old Asphalt Account

A resolution advising the Barber Asphalt Company that a reduction of $9 per ton on asphalt sold Fulton County a year ago and charged for at the rate of $33.40 per ton, would result in the payment of the account of the company against the County, was adopted by the County Commissioners Wednesday afternoon.

The Barber Company supplied the County with a great quantity of asphalt, and a dispute developed over the price charged for it, the claim being made that the figure was excessive and not in accordance with the one agreed upon. The amount involved totals many thousands of dollars.

given one cup of water and a slice of dry bread.

Do Not Stopped Torture.

"I would have been chained, there many hours longer, but the physician saw my condition and stopped the punishment."

Every man in that prison to-day is suffering from stomach trouble because of the awful manner in which the food is cooked by a negro the Government pays $100 per month.

Commissary Salter

Salter speaking further said that at the present time he was suffering with his stomach. He said: "No effort is made to superintend the cooking of this food, and I have had to eat meat and other food that was covered with dirt, and often the prisoners would go to bed hungry as wolves. The menu during the summer months at the prison was as follows:

"Breakfast consisted of fried grits, coffee with sugar in it and bread and butter, each portion being very small.

"Dinner, peas or beans, turnips or cabbage covered with grits, bread.

"Supper, prunes, mostly water; black coffee with bread.

"The winter schedule of meals was somewhat changed, being as follows:

"Breakfast, fried sweet potatoes, bread and what is called oleomargarine of the cheapest class.

"Dinner, baked beans, small piece of beef without any taste to it; bread.

"Supper, small piece of sweet potato, pie, tea or coffee, bread and butter.

Serving Spoils Food.

"The food sent to the kitchen would be suitable for the prisoners to eat, but it is spoiled by the manner in which it is served.

"There are to-day in the prison 75 per cent of the prisoners suffering from stomach trouble.

"Not enough exercise is given the men who are at work in the various shops of the penitentiary, and the slightest infraction prisoners are sent to the 'hole' or dungeon.

"I was told by reliable men in the prison that prisoners have been struck over the heads with clubs by the guards for talking back to them.

"Other men in the prison for talking out of the regulation time have been chained with their faces to the walls for 30 hours at a time."

Waycross Arranges Reception to Slaton

WAYCROSS, Nov. 5.—In honor of Governor John M. Slaton, who will be in Waycross on the evening of November 20, en route from the Coffee County Fair to Douglas to Columbus, to attend a corn carnival and poultry show, an informal reception will be tendered at the Board of Trade.

The arrangements provided for the Governor were forwarded to-day by W. E. Sirmans, president of the board, and Harry D. Reed, Mayor of the city.

Col. O. B. Stevens to Run Against Price

It was reported Wednesday that Colonel O. B. Stevens will make a race for the position of State Agricultural Commissioner against J. D. Price, incumbent, next year.

Colonel Stevens for a number of years represented Terrell County in the General Assembly. He formerly was Commissioner of Agriculture, and also served a term as Railroad Commissioner.

COUNTY SCORES CITY WORK ON WHITEHALL

Board Declares Municipal Officials Acted Unfairly—Extreme Sentence for Gaming Criticized.

Declarations that the city of Atlanta had acted extremely unfair in the matter of the Whitehall street grading project, and open criticism of the judge who would give a man a twelve-month chain-gang sentence for gaming, featured the meeting of the Fulton County Commissioners Wednesday morning.

Charges that the city had not acted in good faith were made by Commissioner Winn regarding the material for the Whitehall street work. It was shown that the city had hauled away 50 loads of the stone used in the old foundation in addition to some of the Belgian blocks.

Mr. Winn charged that a plain unskilled man had been arrived at with the city officials by which the stone was to be stored on a nearby lot and used in the regrading.

Complaint also was made as to the furnishing of additional stone, which it was reported, must be hauled from the city quarry.

A resolution calling upon the city to have delivered all the material for the regrading of Whitehall street and cross streets affected by the regrading was adopted.

"We will be through with the grading by Saturday night, and should have everything ready to go right ahead with the paving to prevent greater loss to the merchants there," said Chairman Shelby.

Criticism of a heavy sentence for gaming was made by Commissioner Turman following the reading of a petition from McClelland & McClelland, attorneys for Joseph E. Burkert, who had been sentenced to a year for being permanently disabled by contracting dropsy while serving a year's sentence on the chain-gang following his conviction for gaming.

Prior to his conviction he claims to have earned a salary of $75 per month, but since his discharge from the chain-gang he says his condition is such that he is unable to earn a living.

Commissioner Turman declared that the sentence Burkert served was all out of proportion to the fine imposed upon him, which was $75.

Kennel Club Will Show the Elite of Atlanta Dogdom

The social elite of Atlanta dogdom will be on parade Friday and Saturday, November 14-15, when the Atlanta Kennel Club opens its two-day show.

A meeting of the committee on arrangements has been called to meet in the studio of W. M. Stephenson, vice president of the club, on Friday afternoon to select the show places. Entrants may be registered with Mr. Stephenson also. A fee of $1 will be charged for each dog entered.

The show is attracting great interest in Atlanta society and is expected to prove a tremendous success. Winship Nunnally, a prominent young Atlanta man, is president of the club.

CHIPLEY WANTS ROAD

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—Chipley has become deeply interested in the proposed good road between Columbus and Atlanta, and is making a strong effort to have the road built by that town instead of Warm Springs, as has been proposed.

Habeas Corpus Writ Sought by Man Being Held as Pickpocket

Habeas corpus proceedings were sworn out against Sheriff Mangum Wednesday by William Rayner, who is being held in the county jail on charges of larceny of the person. Rayner was arrested October 30 by city detectives on suspicion of being one of a gang of pickpockets who have been doing a thriving business in Atlanta for the past two weeks.

The petition was filed with Judge Pendleton of the Superior Court, and the date of hearing set for November 8. Rayner remains in jail in default of a $5,000 bond, set by Recorder Broyles.

Rayner charges that he was tried on a charge of disorderly conduct, but never informed of the direct charge against him and that no evidence showing him to have been disorderly was introduced. He claims never to have been furnished with a warrant, and that his commitment was unlawful.

NO ACTIVITIES IN MILITIA CIRCLES, SAYS NASH

Adjutant General Nash said emphatically Wednesday that there has been no unusual activity in Georgia militia circles of late that could be construed as extraordinary or as coupling the State troops with probable war with Mexico.

The State troops, according to General Nash, are constantly receiving supplies of one sort or another from the Federal War Department. Theoretically, the State troops, being in certain circumstances subject to the instant call of the Federal Government assistance under the Dick law, are kept constantly ready for the field.

To that end, frequent communication with Washington is necessary, the year round. Nothing has been sent to Atlanta of late, either materially or by way of advice or suggestion, that may be taken to mean trouble in Mexico, or anywhere else.

"We are proceeding now just as we always do in the department," said General Nash. "We are not viewing with alarm, but we are, as we have been for a long time, ready for trouble. Georgia, in common with all the States qualifying under the Dick law, receives supplies from Washington now and then. What we may have received of late is paralleled by similar supplies of a year ago, or six months ago, or sixty days ago."

"Officially, the Georgia department knows nothing whatever of trouble in Mexico or anywhere. That's all there is to the war scare story, so far as we are concerned."

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

HE IS ACTING HUMAN.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am 19, and have been keeping company with a young man five years my senior, I always thought he cared for me, as he told me he wanted to marry me, and thought I would consider the matter, as I know he is a good boy and making money.

A few days ago, while walking together, he said something to me which hurt my feelings, and I did not speak to him, in spite of the fact that he tried to make me speak, until we reached home. Before we parted he asked me if he could call the following night, and I said "No." He didn't ask me again, and he hasn't made the attempt to, although we work together and see each other daily. Now, go you think he is acting right? R. G.

He apologized, and you refused to accept it. What more do you want him to do? In all fairness, isn't the next step up to you?

HAS HE A SISTER?

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am very anxious to become acquainted with a young man in the block where I live. He is very polite, but seems bashful.

ANXIOUS. If he has a sister it will be easy to form the acquaintance of one who is so near a neighbor. Or perhaps your mother will call on his mother. Don't, I insist, speak to him until you have had an introduction.

YOU ARE RIGHT.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am past 17, and know a young man one year my senior who wants to marry. He is a news butcher and earns $8 a week. I would like to marry him, but I am pretty sure we could not live on that.

MAY. It would be difficult to live on twice $8 a week, and suicidal to attempt it on less. Both of you are too young to talk of marriage seriously.

My Own Beauty Secrets

BY ANNA HELD

—Beautifying Arms and Hands—

Hands are so much in evidence it is important for every woman to try to make hers attractive.

Leaning on the elbow looks quite attractive when pretty, slender girl assumes the pose. But it is not unightly when a stout woman takes it, and, in any case, it will give you ugly, coarse pads at the elbow.

Break yourself of the habit, and in the meantime rub the elbows each night with anoline.

Never use highly scented soaps. Never wear tight wristbands or cuffs, and be sure that your dresses always have plenty of room in the armholes.

If you follow these careful directions, madame, I think you will find yourself possessed of a pair of supple, graceful white hands and arms. And, either in motion or in repose, they will add to the tout ensemble of true beauty.

In France we consider a beautiful, expressive arm and hand one of woman's great charms. Do you not think this beauty is well worth your cultivation?

Hands are so much in evidence it is important for every woman to try to make hers attractive.

Of course, the foundation for all true beauty is cleanliness. Grooming and care will make the skin of your arms and hands smooth and clear. Shapeliness is also within your reach. And if you will cultivate grace and expressiveness, you may master beauty of the hands and arms.

In France we admire gesture and expression through a certain amount of free motion. To you repose is essential for the hands. But the grace of repose is a thing that requires study.

Always! We proceed. Bathe the arms in bran water—using the bags of "son" as I told you in my talk about the bath. Lay the arms in warm, but not extremely hot water, lest an undue amount of blood be called to the hands, giving them an unsightly red appearance.

Now beginning at the shoulder rub down very gently with a good cold cream. To this add a pair of loose chamomile gloves, some finger-tip squeezers, glycerine and some well-recommended article that will give lustre to the nails.

After bling, soak your hands in

Miss Anna Held.

EACH NIGHT RUB GLYCERINE, WITH A BIT OF CAMPHOR OR OF CARBOLIC ACID AND ROSE WATER (YOU WILL BE THE BEST JUDGE OF WHICH MIXTURE BEST AGREES WITH YOUR SKIN), ON HANDS AND ABOUT THE CUTICLE OF THE NAILS. THEN DON THE LOOSE GLOVES AND LET THE SOFTENING EFFECT OF YOUR GLYCERINE PREPARATION GO ON.

warm soap suds to which you have added a few drops of benzoin. When they are soft and clean, push the cuticle back with a towel and cleanse under the nails with the orange wood stick dipped in peroxide.

Not only must the nails be free from dust and soil and spots of all sorts, but the flesh under them must shine clear white through the translucent nails.

Now rub a bit of lustrous cream or powder on the nails and polish with the buffer.

Each night rub glycerine, with a bit of camphor, or of carbollic acid and rose water (you will be the best judge of which mixture best agrees with your skin), on hands and about the cuticle of the nails. Then don the loose gloves and let the softening effect of your glycerine preparation go on.

IN THE MORNING. In the morning shape the fingers by applying the squeezers to the fingers in alternation. Massage the fingers toward the tips, and be sure to keep the joints supple and smooth.

When on the street always wear gloves that are large enough for you. When in a building remove the gloves at once, so that no perspiration stiffen the glove or chap the hand.

Never use highly scented soaps. Never wear tight wristbands or cuffs, and be sure that your dresses always have plenty of room in the armholes.

If you follow these careful directions, madame, I think you will find yourself possessed of a pair of supple, graceful white hands and arms. And, either in motion or in repose, they will add to the tout ensemble of true beauty.

The Seven Mistakes of Matrimony

By DOROTHY DIX.

No. IV.

THE fourth deadly mistake of matrimony is: TO CUT OUT THE JOOLY BECAUSE YOU ARE MARRIED.

During courtship flattery is an aid to success. After marriage it is a necessity. It takes salve, applied with a liberal hand, to grease up the domestic machinery so that it does not creak and groan as it moves.

Unfortunately, while everybody knows this, the majority of people act as if matrimony gave them the privilege of telling the partners of their bosoms about their faults, and if most of us revealed the truth about the holy estate we should be obliged to confess that we never knew how many follies and weaknesses we possessed until we got married.

It takes a husband to strip the last rag of vanity from a woman and make her see herself faded and old and without charm. It takes a wife to puncture the bubble of her husband's self-esteem and make him realize what an ordinary, common-placed, driving bore he is. Who but a husband would dare tell a woman she is fat and looks more than her 40 years? Who but a wife would knock the wind out of a man's story by yawning in his face, and telling him that she had heard it 40 times before?

No Wonder. No wonder that married couples are so often disillusioned of each other! No wonder that there are so many divorces! The amazing thing is that any affection ever survives the brutal candor of matrimony.

As a matter of fact, the naked truth has no place in the family circle. We can possibly survive knowing what our casual acquaintances and neighbors think of our little peculiarities, but we can not bear to know that the eyes in which we most desire to shine see all of our weaknesses with merciless clearness. No matter how young and beautiful to her husband, and a man desires to feel that he is as much a hero of romance to his wife as in the days he courted her. This is what makes the criticisms of each other in which the husbands and wives, indulge, so fiendishly cruel and barbarous. Every word stabs right to a vital spot.

When you think of it, it is not a little strange that men and women should make such efforts to please and make themselves agreeable to everyone except the very people that it is most important that they should conciliate?

How Different. A man who takes a strange woman down to dinner hangs absorbed on her every word, he listens to her opinions with respect, and pays her deft compliments. He wouldn't dream of such a thing as telling her that she had on a dress that was so much too young for her that it made her look foolish, or that she didn't understand what she was talking about, or that she missed the point of her joke in telling it.

Yet he doesn't hesitate to say such things to his wife, or to make her feel that he regards her as a fit subject for a home for incurable imbeciles.

Nor are women any more careful of their husbands' feelings, and many a man gets the jolt of his life when the adoring and admiring little creature who has been sitting at his feet burning incense before marriage rises up after the wedding day and proceeds to correct his grammar, and his manners, and edit his opinions, and show him what a poor, miserable sinner he is in her opinion.

Probably nothing else explains why marriage is so often a failure as does the exit of the jolly and the entrance of the criticisms as soon as the wedding ceremony is over.

Because every one of us marries under the impression that marriage means the securing to ourselves of a life partner who will do nothing but throw bouquets in our direction, and when we find that instead of getting a dress agent who will exploit our virtues, we have tied ourselves for life to a knocker, we all feel like shrieking out that we have been gold-bricked, and taken in by false pretenses.

The Reason Why.

Yes, marriage is a failure because we cut out the jolly. It is so easy to do things for those who appreciate them and who applaud our efforts and tell us that we are the greatest ever, and it is so hard to do things for those who never even give us a pat on the head and say "Good doggie," but who intimate that we might have done a great deal better if we had only been intelligent like Mr. Smith or Mrs. Jones.

And how we love the society of those who feed us on sweet praise, whose flattery, subtle and discriminating, makes us know that while a dull and senseless world may not appreciate how talented and what remarkable creatures we are, there is one with the mind and soul to understand us. And how we loathe those—how soon we can get enough of their society—who point out to us all of our mistakes, who harp upon our blunders and who turn a searchlight on all our faults and frailties!

The reason that men consider their families a burden is because their wives fail to reward them with praise. The reason that women are dissatisfied, and complain of the monotony of domestic life, is because their husbands never pay them a compliment.

The reason that the average home is a battleground is because husbands and wives hand each other biting criticisms instead of soft soap. The reason that so many married men run off after other women is because a man is bound to have some woman to jolly him along, and if his wife won't, he hunts up a lady who will. The reason that married women seek affinities is because the woman's vanity is starving, and since her husband won't feed it, she turns to the market who will. It is the jolly that makes the wheel of matrimony go around, and those who cut out the lubricant invite disaster.

Do You Know That...

Some idea of the enormous sum spent by society women in Chicago on personal adornment may be gathered from figures which were given at the half-yearly convention of the Chicago Dressmakers' Club the other day. According to these statistics, several of the leaders of society spend no less than $75,000 a year on dress, while one hundred of the women who form the elite of the city are said to have a yearly expenditure of $50,000 apiece. Ten thousand others spend a mere trifle of $5,000 per annum to deck themselves. In brief, enough money is spent in the year at their dressmakers', etc., by society women there to build no fewer than five superdreadnaughts.

Eminent Bess, a Jersey cow at Roy Cross Farm, Houghton County, Mich., has broken the world's milk record. In one year, under the supervision of the Michigan Agricultural College, she has produced 18,788 pounds of milk, yielding 1,132 pounds 8 ounces of butter. The record for Jersey cows was previously held by Jacoba Irene, with 17,258 pounds of milk.

The first postoffice was opened in Paris in 1462, in England in 1581, and in America in the year 1710.

Many Belgians pay about $300 to substitutes in order to avoid military duty.

THE DIAMOND MONIE A THRILLING STORY OF A MODERN CRISTO

Copyright, 1904, by Edward J. Clode.

TO-DAY'S INSTALLMENT.

PHILIP walked on roses during those glorious days. He had found his mate. His life was complete. How bright the world, and how fair the future!

The only disagreeable incident marring the utter joy of existence, and that only for an instant, was his encounter with Langdon at Mrs. Athley's pretty flat in McGint street.

Greener, endowed by nature with an occasional retrospective glimpse of a nobler character, read him correctly when he said that Anson would never condescend to name the intruder in the presence of the woman he loved.

But he did ask a servant who it was with whom he had just been conversing in the entrance hall, and the girl said the gentleman was a Mr. Langdon. No; Mrs. Athley did not know him well. He was brought to her 'at home' on a previous Wednesday by a friend.

Obviously Evelyn could not have more than a passing acquaintance with the man, or she would have recognized him herself. Her agitation that night in the park, the terror of a difficult situation, was enough to account for her failure in this respect, nor was Philip then aware that a her previous meeting with Lady Morland's son she entertained a curious suspicion, instantly dispelled by his glib manner, that Langdon was the man who sought to thrust his unwelcome attentions upon her.

Mount street—how came Mrs. Athley and her daughter to return to the precincts of Mayfair? That was a little secret between Philip and Lord Vanstone.

When Evelyn shyly endeavored to make her now admirer understand that there could be no intimacy between a millionaire and a young lady who was embarking on a professional career—she thought so, he it recorded; this is no canon of art—he seemingly disregarded the hint, but interviewed Lord Vanstone next morning.

The conversation was starchy on one side and emphatic on the other. Philip had heard sufficient of Mrs. Athley's history by indolent inquiry to enable him to place some unpleasant facts before his lordship.

When the facts had been thrust down the aristocratic gorge, Anson turned to pleasanter topics. He informed Lord Vanstone, who bore the title as the third son of a marquis, that his niece's future was more important than his lordship's dignity. He must eat mud for her sake, and willingly withal.

Various firms of solicitors set to work and, marvelous to relate, Lord Vanstone was able to write and inform his half-sister that certain speculations in which he had invested her fortune were trying out well. A cash payment of £2,000 would be made to her at once, and she possessed an assured income of at least £1,500 per annum during the remainder of her life.

The poor lady had heard these fairy tales before; indeed, some such story of more gorgeous proportions had converted her consols into waste paper.

A Welcome Check. But a lawyer, not Lord Vanstone's, sent her a check for the larger amount, and, at a subsequent interview, affirmed the statements made by her unreliable relative.

So she went back to her caste, and her caste welcomed her with open arms, and the dear woman thanked Providence for the decree that her daughter might now accept the attentions of any man, no matter how rich he might be, for she saw the drift of Philip's wishes, and if Evelyn were married to him, surely all their previous trials might be deemed fortunate.

She little dreamed that imperious Philip had ordered matters his own way. It was not to his thinking that his bride should come to him from the genteel obscurity of Maiden Crescent. He would give her a great position, worthy of the highest in the land, and it was

WELSH IN QUEST OF TITLE GOES 100,000 MILES

English Champion Has Made Many Long Journeys in Effort to Fight Crown Holder.

By "Freddie" Welsh. (English Lightweight Champion.) ONE hundred thousand miles after a championship!

While Ritchie's disgraceful Dorando all the way across the American Continent to escape from being forced to swallow a second dose at my hands marked the last lap of the 100,000-mile chase I have had in the last seven years after the world's lightweight championship.

Ritchie, after fleeing from Vancouver, under the friendly cover of night, landed in New York, drew a good long breath and proceeded to pick out one of his favorite soft spots—a "no-decision" match.

But the fates were still on his trail, or to be more correct, the horrible Welsh bugaboo was, for the California bundle of dynamite was no sooner snugly settled in nice cozy training quarters than up popped "the devil"—"Freddie" Welsh.

Phew! That makes 100,000 miles for me. If my hand and feet hold out I'll get one of these American so-called champions to stand still long enough for me to settle once and for all upon whose brow shall rest the world's lightweight crown.

Calls Ritchie Great Runner. This latest jump of mine from Vancouver to New York upon the heels of Arthur Duffy Dorando Ritchie was exactly 100,000 good long miles that I have chased, from coast to coast and continent to continent, after this will-o'-the-wisp.

If we get a $50,000 purse, winner take all, and I knock "No-Decision" Ritchie cold I'll just about be even. Stephen on the good, hard "Iron Men" I have peddled out for railroad fares, steamship fares, sparring partners, trainers and managers.

Let's see—there was Joe Gans, Battling Nelson, Ad Wolgast and now this "no-decision" gentleman—Ritchie! I just missed Gans seven years ago, before my first battle with Packer McFarland. I camped on the "Battlers" trail until camping was 100 to 1 as a pastime.

I trailed Wolgast until the trail was all out and the Michigan "Fussy Cat" took the appendicitis route, and now I have been the means of painting California's "accidental" champion such a deep yellow that the American eagle is blue-eyed with weeping.

With all of my useless jobs trotting and digging into my globe for expenses I'm not half as much upset over the manner in which Ritchie has treated me as I am at his disgraceful treatment and vilifying of Hugo Springer, the Vancouver promoter, who was to have staged our match.

Prizes, Least Prizes. Springer is not only a true sportsman, but a man worth probably a million dollars; his family are the society leaders of Vancouver, and Springer is one of the most solid business men of the town.

All of this trouble came about because my manager was not willing to let Harry Foley's uncle, Eddie Gray, referee the match at Vancouver. There was nothing doing, of course, and the next we knew Ritchie was seeking the land of "no decisions" and I settled myself down for another three thousand-mile chase.

But when all is said and done I must say that I admire the continuity of Ritchie's bump of discretion and also his memory. Despite his other shortcomings, he seems to have a very clear picture impressed upon his mind of Thanksgiving Day, 1911, out on the wave-lapped shore of sunny California. They say a burst child dreads the match, it's not a marker to putting the Indian sign on by giving him a good trouncing.

Ritchie is evidently a believer in axioms, and there is one that he is not going to try to reverse and this is what it says: "History repeats itself."

Alabama Hopes for Victory Over Tigers

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 5.—Birmingham football fans are looking forward to the game here Saturday between Alabama and Sewanee with much interest.

This game promises to develop into a considerable scrap, the local depoters being unable to figure out the probable outcome, though there is a leaning to the home team.

The game will decide the ultimate ranking of Sewanee and Alabama, both of whom seem destined to a battle for fifth place, the winning team being assigned to that ranking and the loser to sixth in the S. I. A. A. standing.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR A. A. EASTMAN, Nov. 5.—An athletic association was formed among the pupils of the Eastman High School a few days ago, with the following officers: President, LeRoy Clements; vice president, Jeter Harrell; secretary and treasurer, Albert Hargrove.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Moguls Wise to Recognize Fultz Brotherhood Lesson for Owners

By Sam Crane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—For the good of all concerned in the coming controversy between the National Commission, club owners and the Baseball Players' Fraternity, when the latter presents its demands for reforms looking to the players' interests, it is fortunate that second thought has convinced some of the magnates that it will be the better plan to allow the fraternity to be represented by Lawyer David L. Fultz, whom they have elected the president of their organization, rather than to ignore him and his official status.

Professional baseball players are extremely touchy on many things, but on none more than to be refused recognition in the way they themselves select.

Individually the players are always at a loss as to how to voice their grievances. They can get together and talk over their troubles, real or imaginary, with great gusto and with reasonable arguments, but they are doubtful of the ability of any of their number to so present their arguments in the forceful way they think is necessary to give the magnates a correct idea of what they want in the way of reforms.

Would Arouse Enmity. They have in meeting assembled seen fit to elect President Fultz as their leader and mouthpiece in the present crusade, and not only would it be an injustice to them for the National Commission to refuse to recognize him, but it would also tend to antagonize the members of the fraternity at the very start of the proceeding, and therefore install a feeling of enmity that would be very embarrassing and entirely foreign to the spirit of fairness and good will that should prevail and which seems to be the inclination of both parties, according to all reports.

When the brotherhood in the fall of 1910 took up the subject of a reform for the players John M. Ward, who was studying law, was the head of that organization, with James O'Rourke, also a law student, if not already admitted to the bar, as Ward's able lieutenant. They were both fully capable of presenting their demands to the magnates, but were laughed at.

Owners Taken Unawares. The very owners were apt to believe that the players would go to extremes, and the launching of the Players' League in 1910 caught the magnates of the National League totally unprepared. There was no National Commission then—only the one league to contend against. The sudden onslaught of the players came very near wrecking the too confident club owners. It did wreck several individual magnates, noticeably John R. Day, who was considered by his revolting players as their best friend among the owners, and was offered the chance to get on the brotherhood wagon before it was too late.

But Mr. Day refused to believe that he could not influence enough of his stray players to protect his interests, and was not convinced until he found there were no traitors among the players he most desired to remain with him when money to a fabulous amount was placed on a table in front of them.

Such players as Ward, O'Rourke, Roger Connor, Buck Ewing, George Borch, Tim Keefe and others spurned the advancement of their interests and renounced the principles they were fighting for, but none of that sturdy, honest bunch even flickered.

Players Lost No Prestige. That the Players' League was not a success does not reflect on the players' intentions or ideas of right and wrong, as they thought. A mistake was made in the selection of certain backers, who proved to be weak-kneed and with spongy spines, but the players themselves lost no prestige by the advancement of their idea of needed reforms. In fact, although defeated they gained much that they demanded and the players of to-day are deriving the benefit.

Whether those players who are making the present crusade are much good fighters as those of nearly a quarter of a century ago, I have no way of knowing, but as it has been published that some of them fear to

BOXING News of the Ring Game

Al Releh and George Rodel, two "white hopes" will clash in a ten-round bout at a special show held by the Fairmont A. C. New York, tonight. Releh is the former amateur heavyweight champion who was clearing them all up until he lost to Carl Morris a few weeks ago.

Jimmy Duffy, the Buffalo lightweight, has agreed to make 122 pounds at 6 o'clock for Charlie White. They meet in a ten-round bout at Milwaukee Monday night. Frank Mulhern, promoter of the show, says he will try to get Willie Ritchie for the winner.

Al Lippe sends word from Paris that Jack Johnson has not signed up for a fight with anyone as yet. Vienna, the fight promoter of France, is willing to put him on in a contest with any fighter he selects. Lippe also states that negro pugilists are not wanted in bouts over there, and that they will soon be eliminated entirely.

George Chip will swing the padded mits with Freddie Hicks in a so-called six-round set to Saturday night. This will be Chip's first fight since he stopped Frank Klaus about a month ago.

Frank Postero, the Athens promoter, stages his first boxing show of the season of at Athens tonight. He has billed two ten-round bouts and a six-round scrap between negro battlers.

Charlie Lee and Kid Young clash in one of the ten-round bouts, while Frank Baker and Jack Payne tangle in the other ten-round bout. These two scraps should prove corkers, as all the boys have been training for the past ten days. Young and Lee have agreed to stop at two rounds, both boys having forfeits up.

Joe Mandot will probably meet Patsy Drouillard, at Windsor, Ontario, the latter part of this month. "Glackie" Raglio, Mandot's new manager, is dickering with the Windsor promoters for the match.

Ad Wolgast denies the report that he ducked out of his match with Charlie White at Milwaukee two weeks ago. Wolgast says he never dodged an opponent in his life, and will gladly fight White as soon as his ribs come around in shape.

Tom Gibbons, Mike's brother, is matched to box George K. O'Brien, the Chicago middleweight, at Hudson, Wis., on November 19. They are scheduled to go ten rounds.

Jimmy Rowan, promoter in Oakland, Cal., is after Packer McFarland to meet Jack Britton in a twenty-round bout on Thanksgiving Day. Rowan says Britton has already agreed to the match, but he is having a hard time in getting Packer's signature.

Eddie McGoorty will not be able to box in a Wisconsin ring for six months. He recently refused to keep a date with Jack Dillon at Milwaukee and the Wisconsin commission has put the ban on him.

Bombardier Wells declares he will never box in this country again. Let Go Hibbe.

Jack White, brother of the noted Charlie, is slipping sadly. Jack was stopped by a comparatively unknown, Joe Bayley, at Vancouver the other night. It is time for Jack to quit. The Chicagoan was a hard nut to crack at one time, but is a mark for good lightweight now.

There will not be much difference in weight between the two teams when they line up for the fray, as reports from Auburn state that Donahue's team is about the same poundage as Heisman's squad.

Campi Beats Chavez In 20-Round Bout. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Eddie Campi decisively outpointed Benny Chavez, of Trinidad, Colo., in twenty rounds of boxing before the Pacific A. C. at Vernon last night. Chavez put up a great fight, but was not fast enough for the Coast bantamweight champion.

HANLON WINS ON FOUL. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—Eddie Hanlon, the Atlanta welterweight, won on a foul in the first round from Mickey Cannon in their scheduled ten-round set-to. The bout lasted about two minutes, the boys being very rough from the start.

AUBURN WORKS HARD FOR GAME WITH JACKETS

Mike Donahue Expects to Have His Full Strength on Field in Saturday's Battle.

By Mike Donahue. (Coach Auburn Football Team.) AUBURN, Nov. 5.—Auburn is wasting no time in preparing for the Yellow Jackets. With the exception of Lockwood and Sparkman, the team came through the hard L. S. U. game in good shape. L. S. U. was by far the strongest team that Auburn has met this year. They are heavy and experienced, and they put their whole season on the Auburn game.

One of the hardest things about the Auburn schedule is the fact that Auburn has had and will have to play so many undefeated teams. Clemson so far was the only defeated team that Auburn has played. Tech and Vanderbilt are two undefeated Southern teams, and the outcome of the Tech-Georgia game will decide whether Georgia will be in the same category or not. Clemson will give Georgia a very hard game, though there does not seem to be much chance for their beating Georgia.

Electric lights have been installed on Drake Field so practice will continue from now on till after dark. New signals and new formations have been given the team for the three remaining games. If Auburn expects to have any chance to take three in a row from such strong opponents it will have to get up and hustle.

Everyone realizes this, and the team is going after the work with a zest and snap not visible so far this year. If no injuries occur this week the Auburn team ought to enter the game in good physical condition.

The Auburn line will outweigh all others from end to end, but a great deal of this weight is a hindrance rather than a help. Auburn will probably have six of the last year's regulars in the game, provided Lockwood is in shape, while Tech will have five, so it will be a question of prep stars against substitutes and scrubs.

Small Town Stuff

Oh, they talk of tea and slices And they want of putts and drives, To rival Oatmet seems the one Ambition of their lives; They have broken my umbrella Demonstrating how it's done, And they've shifted off their burdens On my shoulders one by one.

Now, they're out at East Lake playing All the day, and then at night They take my time in telling How they won the paper's fight; And they clap me on the shoulder And they say, "Old boy, some time I'll let you be my caddy For a nickel or a dime."

Now, I never heard of slices And I don't know what drives mean— I never saw a golf course, Don't know if it's blue or green; But I'd like to place a scoger That I easily can beat The best there is among them— And I've got rheumatic feet.

Ritchie Studying Gotham Rules for Go With Leach Cross

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Willie Ritchie, champion lightweight boxer of the world, who will make his first appearance here in a 10-round bout with Leach Cross November 10, is studying the rules of the boxing commission which will govern the contest. Ritchie, in all of his ring contests, has boxed under Queensberry rules, permitting him to hit on the breakaway and to use a hand free in the clinches.

Now Herrmann's Head May Fall Commission in for Shake-Up

By O. B. Keeler. HERE'S a funny thing coming up in National League politics: It seems that Garry Herrmann, official goat-getter of the Big Show, is about to lose some of his collection.

Garry went to work and got sore on Tom Lynch, and had another guy all picked out to succeed Tommy next year as president of the league.

And now it appears Tommy isn't going to be succeeded. Tommy, it seems, went to work and solidified himself with the faculty, and, being a four-square kind of a chap, he stands pretty well with the rest of the works, too.

And now Tommy is in a position to do a bit of dictating, or rumor is away off.

NOW, whether Tommy's reciprocal affection for Garry will lead him to try to chop Garry's head off, is quite another thing. There is no doubt that a good many of the faculty don't care for Mr. Herrmann. Some of them are unreserved in stating that they think another guy would look better in Garry's place on the National Commission. They don't even specify what guy.

THIS isn't by way of saying the Commission was wrong. But it just didn't look good to the minor leaguers. And a lot of major leaguers agree. So it seems it is to be Mr. Herrmann who makes the war this time, instead of Mr. Lynch. Welcome change!

TAMMANY ROUT GROWS WITH RETURNS

Sulzer, Impeached Governor, Easily Elected to the New York Assembly.

Republicans will have 86 seats out of 150 in the next Assembly, while the Progressive claims are 17 to 20.

One of the bi-surprises was the defeat of Mayor George B. Lunn, of Schenectady, who was seeking reelection on the Socialist ticket.

Louis Will, an out-and-out Progressive, was elected Mayor of Syracuse, while Louis P. Fahrman, an anti-organization Democrat, was elected Mayor of Buffalo.

There was a Democratic landslide at Troy, but the Republicans carried the day in Albany and Rochester.

Tammany Real Issue.

The eyes of the nation had been turned to New York because of the bitter campaign which had been waged here, especially after the impeachment of Governor Sulzer.

Edward E. McCall, the Tammany nominee for Mayor, and his political enemies hurling accusations and recriminations at each other, the original issues of the campaign were obscured.

In the heat of battle, with Judge Edward E. McCall, the Tammany nominee for Mayor, and his political enemies hurling accusations and recriminations at each other, the original issues of the campaign were obscured.

George McAneny, Fusion candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, and William A. Prendergast, candidate for Comptroller, had a hard time of it, and were pulled through only by the popularity of Mitchell.

Managers of McAneny's campaign claimed a plurality of 5,000, while the Prendergast supporters claimed 25,000.

Wilson Congratulates Victors by Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Delighted by the Democratic victories in the elections yesterday, President Wilson spent to-day going over detailed returns and in sending telegrams of congratulation to the victorious Democrats in various States.

Democratic victories in the elections were interpreted by partisans of the Wilson administration as an endorsement of the tariff and currency program.

Leaders in Congress representing the administration expect to use yesterday's successes as a means of tightening President Wilson's control over Congress.

Democrats Sweep Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—David L. Walsh, the Democratic candidate, was elected Governor of Massachusetts by a plurality of 57,273 on complete returns received to-day.

Mr. Walsh's vote was 182,977, with all the returns in. His last year received 183,184. The Walsh vote is amazingly high for an off year.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets bring joy to the starving dyspeptic who cannot safely eat.

When your system is robbed of its natural digestive juices, in their correct proportion, a little candy-like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets gives to them the qualities they lack and you thereby rest the digestive apparatus and allay irritation, pain, gas and stomach trouble.

Pepsin such as used in a Stuart's tablet is one of nature's gifts, and when this is combined with the other ingredients you simply bring happiness to every worn-out nerve of stomach, liver, intestines, pancreas and other organs.

Pre-digested foods will not aid nature if she insists on manufacturing the wrong juices. Besides this the bowels need coarse and heavy foods, in order to make bowel pack which is vitally essential to health.

LYNCH STARTS SCHOOL FUND PROBE.

Alleges That Money Has Been Lying in Bank Without Drawing Any Interest.

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 5.—John A. Lynch, secretary of the Springfield school committee, has discovered an apparent discrepancy of $2,215 in the public school funds of Duval County, and has started an investigation, which it is believed will lead to sensational disclosures.

With the county in need of between $250,000 and $300,000 for school purposes, and teachers going unpaid, it appears, according to Mr. Lynch, that at least $2,215 has been lying in the bank for over a year, drawing no interest, and there may be many thousands more which have never become available for school purposes.

Board Has An Auditor.

"What I want to know," continued Mr. Lynch, "is why there is any warrant for handling school funds, except as provided by law, and if the above allegations are true, the Governor would be justified in removing the entire board."

The school board has an auditor paid to audit the books quarterly and this being so, why should there be a discrepancy which was not sooner discovered? All school moneys should be turned over to the County Treasurer, in whose possession they properly belong.

Mr. Lynch has taken a prominent part in school affairs in the last few years and last year was a candidate for County Superintendent. Although only in the race for a few weeks, he won a large vote.

$150,000 ARMORY ASSURED.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—National Guardsmen of this city and county are assured of a new $150,000 armory by the election of yesterday when the bond issue carried by a majority of 372.

won second place by an ample majority of 8,000 votes. Gardner, the Republican candidate, was third, and Governor Potts, who ran as an independent, received only 20,000 votes.

Edward P. Barry, Democrat, won a spectacular victory over August Goetting, Republican, for Lieutenant Governor. He had a plurality of almost 20,000. On the remainder of the ticket estimates put the Democratic candidates ahead with safe margins.

The Democrats apparently gained control of the House of Representatives. With 180 seats of 240 heard from, the Democrats had 92, Republicans 69, Socialists 1, Independents 1 and Progressives 9.

The election makes the Republicans the third party of the State for the first time since before the Civil War.

Democrats Win Most in Hoosierdom.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—While Democratic victories predominated in the municipal elections throughout Indiana, there were a few jolts and surprises revealed in the final results.

In Indianapolis, where six tickets were competing, Joseph E. Bell, Democrat, without newspaper support, was elected Mayor by over 5,000 plurality and carried his entire city ticket through.

Dr. Charles S. Woods, non-indebted candidate by a committee of 100 prominent business and professional men and supported by the most influential newspaper in the city, polled fewer votes than the Socialist candidate.

NOGALES, ARIZ., Nov. 5.—Officers commanding the United States troops here received orders to-day to prepare equipment for field service. Railroad officials also received requests for a statement regarding their facilities for the movement of troops.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Ten persons were hurt—four girls and six firemen—and 300 girl employees were thrown into a panic late this afternoon when the Unity Laundry, at No. 2246 Kies place, was destroyed by fire. Scores of the girls were rescued by firemen who dashed through flames and smoke to carry them to safety.

TRINIDAD, COLO., Nov. 5.—The militia to-day occupied Forbes, a camp of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, following a skirmish between strikers and guards. The strikers opened fire on the home of Robert Nichol, superintendent of the mine, according to word from General Chase. The attacking party withdrew when the guards returned the fire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Representative L'Engel, of Florida, to-day introduced a bill in the House providing that no poisonous drugs shall be manufactured and offered for sale in tablet form unless the tablet be cubical in shape, while non-poisonous tablets shall be disc shaped.

MADISON, WIS., Nov. 5.—Clarence H. Fertig, senior at the University of Wisconsin, shot himself four times through the heart this morning at Tenney Park, walked twelve feet and plunged into a lagoon. Ill health and overwork are said to be reasons.

HAMMOND, IND., Nov. 5.—In a riot at Indiana Harbor this afternoon over the merits of the election of Frank Callahan, Citizens party man, over A. G. Schlicker, Republican, three men were shot. Two will die and a score were hurt.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Ortie McManigal, the dynamiter, recently released from jail, is speeding to Tampa, Fla. Fearful that his enemies will pursue him,

LATEST NEWS

McManigal intends to sail from Tampa for Cuba or a South American port and return when the animus aroused by the dynamiting trials has died out.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Robert Pasquiere, representing the Garanza movement, declared to-day that he had received instructions to voice a protest to the State Department against an invasion of Mexico by United States troops.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, in a statement issued here to-day almost on the eve of Governor Felker's decision as to whether her son shall be extradited into New York or be set free, says William Travers Jerome. She hints at charge of criminal libel in connection with Jerome's allegation that two jurors were bribed at the first homicide trial of her son.

RENO, NEV., Nov. 5.—"Billy" Edwards, proprietor of the Red Top dance hall at Rochester, was shot and killed by J. G. McFadden. Frank Manda, Edwards' partner, was shot over the heart and will die, and "Shorty" Burns and Emma Hoffman, the latter McFadden's wife, also were wounded.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Nov. 5.—Because Mrs. Charles E. Anderson attended a theatrical performance last night, Harry Ellis became angered and shot and killed her this afternoon. He then killed himself. They had long been friends.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—The 208 Mexican Federals who were driven across the international border into Arizona will be imprisoned at Fort Rosecrans, near San Diego, Cal., until the Mexican revolutionary activity is ended. Judge Welborn, in the United States District Court to-day, case ordering the retention of the handed down a decision in the men as prisoners.

BOSTWICK GETS LOVING CUP. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—William A. Bostwick, Jr., former chairman of the board of trustees, is the proud possessor of a silver loving cup, presented as a token of the regard and esteem in which he is held by the board members.

"DRY" ELECTION ASKED. ST. AUGUSTINE, Nov. 5.—Bearing signatures of a fourth more than the number required by law, a petition asking for a dry election has been presented to the County Commissioners. Saloon men have employed counsel to attempt to prevent the election.

EX-PRISON BOARD HEAD IS ON TRIAL. Indictments Involving $300,000 Against James G. Oakley. Lacy in Spanish Honduras.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 5.—On indictments charging that he had appropriated State funds, James G. Oakley, former president of the Alabama Convict Board, came to trial here to-day. The charges of irregularities are in connection with the sensational defalcation of Theodore Lacy, chief clerk under Oakley, who left the State March 12 with approximately $117,000 of prison funds.

In the nine cases against Oakley, involving $300,000, more than 200 witnesses have been summoned, and a mass of evidence will be presented that threatens to bare facts in connection with the Lacy scandal heretofore kept concealed. Oakley is accused of embezzling and converting funds.

Lacy has been located in Spanish Honduras, where it is said he is living a life of ease. It is impossible to extradite him under the present international agreement. Oakley recently confessed judgment to a civil proceeding and turned over his property, valued at $100,000, to the State on account of his erring clerk.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—The National Guardsmen of this city and county are assured of a new $150,000 armory by the election of yesterday when the bond issue carried by a majority of 372.

Southern Express Company SERVICE IS STANDARD

Yellow Label Means Prepaid. White Label Means Collect.

Yellow Label When you receive an express package bearing a yellow label pay nothing. The shipper has already paid the charges.

White Label When you receive an express package bearing a white label pay the charges.

No Label If a package bears neither Collect nor Prepaid label it will be delivered without charges, and collection, if proper, will be made thereafter.

This System is for your benefit and protection. Your co-operation is earnestly requested.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE SOUTHERN EXPRESS COMPANY

Because the Southern Express Company has built up the most efficient system of quick transportation on over 32,000 miles of railroad, and has connections which make delivery throughout the civilized world.

Because there is direct, enforceable responsibility to you for safe, quick and accurate service.

Because each shipment is handled separately and can be traced from the time you part with it until it is delivered at its destination.

Because in getting a receipt you have indisputable evidence of forwarding that particular shipment.

Because it is good policy to foster private enterprise under due regulation of your representatives.

Because when you entrust your shipment to the Southern Express Company, you know it will be handled carefully and delivered promptly.

Full information about any kind of express service will be given promptly and courteously by any agent of the

He Sets Fire to Jail Each Time Locked Up

GADSDEN, ALA., Nov. 5.—Joe Jones, a white miner who one month ago fired the town jail at Attalla and was rescued just before being suffocated, was incarcerated there again last night on a charge of disorderly conduct. He again set the building on fire. When the door was broken down he fell to the sidewalk overcome by smoke, but revived and will recover.

The building, a small wooden structure, was completely destroyed.

"Madame Irene" The Corset for the Present Day Styles

Madame Irene, the designer of Madame Irene Corsets, seems to specialize more successfully than most corset designers.

The result is corsets particularly adapted to wear on particular occasions.

Besides the fine models of Madame Irene's for general wear we would have you know such specialized corsets as these—

Madame Irene Dancing Corset, of firmly woven, heavy, but flexible linen mesh; two short bones, $7.50.

Madame Irene Suedine Corset, with elastic belt and free hips, four bones, very short, a model much favored for dancing and riding, $8.50.

Madame Irene Elastic Corset, the webbing is strong, long-wearing. It has no bones at all. A splendid model for wear with light evening dresses, $15.00.

The Madame Irene Surgical Corset should be the first corset a woman wears after an operation, it gives the body the support of a strong corset with no possible danger of irritating the wound. The front is of elastic webbing, the back of French coutil, two bones, $9.00.

The Madame Irene Hip Confiner, an effective flesh reducer, of surgical elastic webbing, it slips on, $12.50.

Clang, Clang! Honk, Honk! Toot, Toot! Toy Town Is A-Bustle

"All off for Toy Town!" We have just pulled in at the Terminal Station-ette. The train we came on was run by electricity.

It arrived on time! The porter-ette has taken our bags. The bagman-ette is putting our trunks on the truck. Now let's see the city!

An automobile is waiting. The chauffeur cranks up. That's a fine skyscraper-ette that looms before us. And what a busy factory-ette with its whirling wheels and deafening trip-hammers.

There are big crowds on the street! Wonder what the attraction could be! Ah, a circus parade!

See the big elephants, the camels, the funny monkeys, the bears, the lions, the horseback riders and the clowns, were there ever such funny fellows—and the acrobats.

The little Dutch boy and girl do not know what to make of it all, they are not laughing like the other little doll boys and girls.

Clang, Clang! A fire! There go the hose wagon, and hook and ladder, here comes the puffing engine!

What a hustling busy city is Toy Town—plenty of Atlanta Spirit here.

It is all in the Toy Store of a new standard that has just been opened in the Bazaar.

We warrant the grown-ups will have about as much fun out of it as the kiddies.

The Great Sousa and his Band at the Automobile Show Nov. 8 to 15. A fine time to visit Atlanta.

REAL ESTATE AND CONSTRUCTION NEWS

Locations Leased By Several Firms
Stories or Peachtree Enhancement. Lot Buyers Refuse Profits. Ormewood Club Is Formed.

Peachtree leases are again claiming a large part of the attention of local real estate men, several having been made of late and several more are pending.

Harley-Davidson Motor Company, motorcycle manufacturers of Milwaukee, has leased, through Gus Calkins, representative and distributor, 233 Peachtree street, the John E. Murphy property, for three years, and will sublease the second-named store to the local agency handling this make of motorcycles.

This was the former location of the Biggs Antique Company, on the west side of the street between Adams and Harris streets.

The store, which is handled by the Forrest and George Adair real estate agency, which also announced the lease of the upstairs, No. 2261-2 Peachtree, to F. H. Volberg, Jr., dealer in antique, jewelry and antiques, for a like period.

No. 41 Peachtree Leased. An interesting story is told of how Miller, Oakes and the Dismukes hat concern, of Nashville, happened to lease No. 41 Peachtree from the Wiseberg estate.

The Dismukes hat company has stores in Nashville and Birmingham, and the entry of the Miller, Oakes and the cause of a good deal of comment among retail concerns and real estate agencies.

No. 41 Peachtree is on the east side of the street, just north of Peachtree avenue, and was formerly occupied by the Atlanta Floral Company, Borg & Erikson, successors, who went to the Alford Building.

No. 97 Peachtree. Basement goes with it. The Dismukes hat concern is to be let by 125 feet to an alley.

The Wiseberg store has been vacant about a month, and thereby hangs another story. The Miller, Oakes and company had been paying $4,200 a year, but prior to the expiration of their lease September 1 they were asked $7,000 for a renewal.

Satisfied With Lot Buys. Several purchasers of lots in the Hemphill subdivision on Marietta street have refused to profit on their purchases, it was learned Wednesday.

Buyers of this property obtained bargains, according to well-posted real estate men, especially in view of what is expected to happen on Spring street. People who bought at the courthouse Tuesday consider that they got "under cover" just in time.

Spring Street Enthusiasm. Real estate men have again taken the lead in a big movement which will benefit the entire city.

J. R. Smith has been named temporary chairman of the Spring street improvement committee looking to the early improvement of that street and its conversion into a traveling thoroughfare for the relief of congestion on the Peachtree.

Mr. Smith was elected at a meeting of the property owners Tuesday, a more complete account of which appears elsewhere. He owns no property on Spring street, but is willing to give up his time to the improvement.

All the leading citizens who have been heard have expressed their belief that this work is as important as any that has been undertaken, and it is probable that property owners will subscribe $1 a front foot, or any amount necessary, to secure the work.

Ormewood Club Formed. Following the lead of Decatur, Colquhoun Park, East Point, Smyrna and other outlying communities, Ormewood citizens have formed an improvement association which will work to build up that section.

A meeting in the schoolhouse Dr. H. E. E. Treadwell, lot 40 to 80 feet, south side Fairfax street, 150 feet west of Port street, November 3.

Deeds to Secure. $4,275—J. L. Harris to D. O. Dougherty, lot 60 to 80 feet, northeast corner Piedmont avenue and Twelfth street, November 3.

Bonds for Title. $12,000—Nicholas Ittner to Mrs. Julia M. Williams, No. 353 Juniper street, 14 by 123 feet, October 29.

Permit for Home. Mrs. S. M. Whitner has been given a permit to erect a two-story frame house at No. 335 St. Charles avenue, at a cost of $4,750.

Activity in DeKalb. Many admirers are applying for leave to sell lands at Decatur, and it is probable that the sales on the first Tuesday in December will break all records. The business in the Court of Ordinance has been unprecedented.

Realty Men Move. Mr. Adair & Mell in the style of a new real estate firm, has been formed with Marshall Adair and Brooks Hill as partners. They have taken office at 424 Hurt Building.

Executors' Deed. $2,650—Margaret I. Lytchgoe estate (by executors) to C. A. Upchurch, lot 50 by 110 feet, north side Fulton street, 155 feet east of Pulliam street, November 4.

Building Permits. $245—Randall Bros. vs. Conway & Son, ten acres on east line of lot 182, Seventh District, on the corner of Mill road, adjoining Ray, Mauldin and Hopkins, November 4.

PLIGHT on POLITICAL POLITICS BY JAMES B. NEVIN

Representative Barry Wright, who likely will be a candidate to succeed himself in the Georgia Legislature, does not think that prohibition will be made a direct issue in the next campaign in Floyd, notwithstanding some recent and rather persistent reports to the contrary from that vicinity.

Mr. Wright, moreover, believes that prohibition is stronger in Georgia today than it ever was before, and that in a fight between the people it likely would win.

There are other things in which the people of Georgia are more deeply interested, as a pressing political proposition, than they are in prohibition. There is sufficient prohibition in the present law to make it unnecessary to do so.

There are others who say, nevertheless, that a grand old row is brewing in Floyd and in Bibb, and that those who are not looking for it are destined to disappointment.

Senator M. C. Tarver, chairman of the subcommittee on the Chattahoochee terminals of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, has notified Senator McNeill, the other committee member in Chattanooga, that the inspection of the terminals in Chattanooga will be made Thursday of next week.

At one time "Billie" Osborne was unquestionably the most powerful political influence in South Georgia, and doubtless still would be, if he were to assume and enact the role of a politician.

The Georgia friends of Judson C. Clements, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, whose term expires soon, have been more or less disturbed of late concerning persistent rumors from Washington to the effect that Mr. Clements might not be renominated.

Hundreds of telegrams have gone forward to Washington from Georgia, in support of Clements' re-nomination, and the campaign for the succession to the dead member has been extremely interesting, but in no way spectacular.

The campaign for the succession to the dead member has been extremely interesting, but in no way spectacular. The rivalry between the three candidates has been intense, and the campaign has been entirely devoid of that bitterness sometimes characterizing races of the sort in Georgia, and especially has it been free from personal attacks.

Conditions. With the exception of local rains in the East Gulf States and Florida, the weather will be comparatively clear, with a cold in the eastern half of the country, with higher temperature Thursday, except in the South.

General Forecast. Georgia—Fair to-night; Thursday partly cloudy. Virginia—Fair to-night; heavy frost in western portion; Thursday fair; slightly warmer.

Florida and Alabama—Local rains to-night and Thursday, except fair and warmer to-night and Thursday. Louisiana—Fair to-night; Thursday fair and warmer.

Mississippi—Local rains to-night and Thursday, except fair and warmer to-night and Thursday. Tennessee—Fair to-night; slightly warmer in west portion; Thursday fair and warmer.

SMALL CIGARETTES STOCKS IN COTTON CROP ESTIMATE OF 13,400,000 AND FIRM CABLES HELP FIRMNESS. Volume of Trade Light.

The trading on the opening was of a light character. One was probably the best seller, Wiggins, and the leading buyer on the call. After the call the market was supported by March, Hentz, Mitchell and Waters, with very little cotton for sale. General sentiment continues bearish, however.

It was rumored that the National Ginmillers' Association reports for November 1 at $400,000 bales. If the Census Bureau report is the same it may be very bullish, according to conservative operators.

Journal of Commerce says: "It is pointed out that a good many million bales have been sold at the highest prices for years past for the first few months of a season, and it is contended that this puts the farmer in a better position to hold if he sees fit. The cotton, however, is being rapidly sold and thus gotten rid of, so that the bulls think the statistical position shows a tendency toward strength.

The advance was preceded by a perceptible break of 2 1/2 cents, and it is contended in conservative quarters that a reaction is overdue and may be precipitated by the end of the week.

Europe, while seemingly not now inclined to buy very much cotton on this side, the rally in Argentina and the completion of old business. Actual cotton merchants in the South said that the spot market for desirable cotton is stiffening, but that the banks are very tight.

The situation with regard to the vegetable to the southward seems to have reached a climax, and hostilities between the United States and Europe are anticipated. But it is generally believed that Europe continues sufficient respect for the so-called Monroe Doctrine to abstain from complications, which would mean that the United States would merely engage in internecine warfare.

At the close the market was steady, with prices at 10 1/2 to 11 1/2. Estimated cotton receipts: Thursday, 1912. New Orleans, 15,000 to 17,500; 11,611; Memphis, 20,000 to 22,500; 22,885.

THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN

Published by THE GEORGIAN COMPANY
At 20 East Alabama St., Atlanta, Ga.
Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Atlanta, under act of March 3, 1873
HEARST'S SUNDAY AMERICAN and THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN will be mailed to subscribers anywhere in the United States, Canada and Mexico, one month for $1.00, three months for $2.75, six months for $5.00 and one year for $9.00; change of address made as often as desired. Foreign subscription rates on application.

Go to the Automobile Show and Learn What Men of Brains Are Doing to Help Along Good Times.

The Automobile Show that opens in the Auditorium-Armory on Saturday evening will show the latest work of men who are leaders in the great automobile industry, men who by their inventive skill are leading the way in the South in the march of improvements.

We hope EVERYBODY in Atlanta will visit this show, even those who do not own or operate automobiles, for they can not fail to learn something of value to them in the future.

The automobile has come to stay. Automobiles turned out to-day are better made than ever before. They are stronger, and they are cheaper, too.

And they will be made still better in the future. Many men of great minds are studying the still troublesome questions that confront manufacturers. They will solve all these problems some day, and where one automobile is used now twenty-five will be used in the near future.

Good automobiles, and good roads, will do more for Atlanta and the South than anything else.

Visit the show and encourage the men who have organized it, and stand behind it. Make it the biggest Automobile Show the South has ever known.

How the Government Aids Speculators and Hurts Farmers.

In the new Postal Savings Banks the deposits now amount to more than $36,000,000. The Government pays only 2 per cent interest on this large sum.

A deposit as small as 10 cents is received by the Postal Savings Banks, and no one is allowed to deposit more than $500.

More than 500,000 persons have thus left their savings with the Government AT A LOWER INTEREST RATE THAN IS PAID BY ANY OTHER GOVERNMENT IN CHRISTENDOM.

What does our Government do with this money? Does it use these wise pennies of thrifty, patriotic people to aid the industry and the production of the country, THE FARMS, FOR INSTANCE, and so benefit the small consumer?

Not at all. The Government, in the Postal Savings Bank Law, does not act as if the consumers of the country, or even the postal depositors, were worthy of any special consideration. It acts as if the interests of private bankers were of the first consideration or paramount in importance. Postmasters are required immediately to redeposit all savings received by them in the nearest "solvent bank willing to accept such deposits." And although part of these deposits may afterward be invested in United States bonds, the banks MUST ALWAYS BE ALLOWED TO KEEP THE GREATER PART, OR 65 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL DEPOSITS OF POSTAL SAVINGS.

What does the national bank do with the money? It is forbidden to loan any of it to any farmer upon the security of his farm, no matter how good that real estate security may be.

But the bank is free to loan it to other customers, or to send it to any "Central Reserve City" (New York, Chicago and St. Louis), where the money is used for the most part to promote speculative operations in the Stock Exchange or grain pit.

The Government of Germany has given direct aid to loan associations making a specialty of lending money to farmers on improved farms at 4 1/2 per cent interest.

The Government of France helped to create a financial lending agency to furnish money to French farmers at 4 3/8 per cent interest.

Even the Government of England, traditionally cruel and unjust to Ireland, has provided a Royal Commission and an Irish Land act to improve the farm conditions of Ireland, providing money for the farmer at about 3 1/2 per cent.

But in the United States the Government takes the small savings of the people, pays 2 per cent for them, and turns them over to national banks expressly forbidden to make loans to farmers.

THE AMERICAN FARMER IS FORCED TO PAY AN AVERAGE OF 8 1/2 PER CENT FOR THE MONEY ESSENTIAL TO HARVEST HIS CROPS.

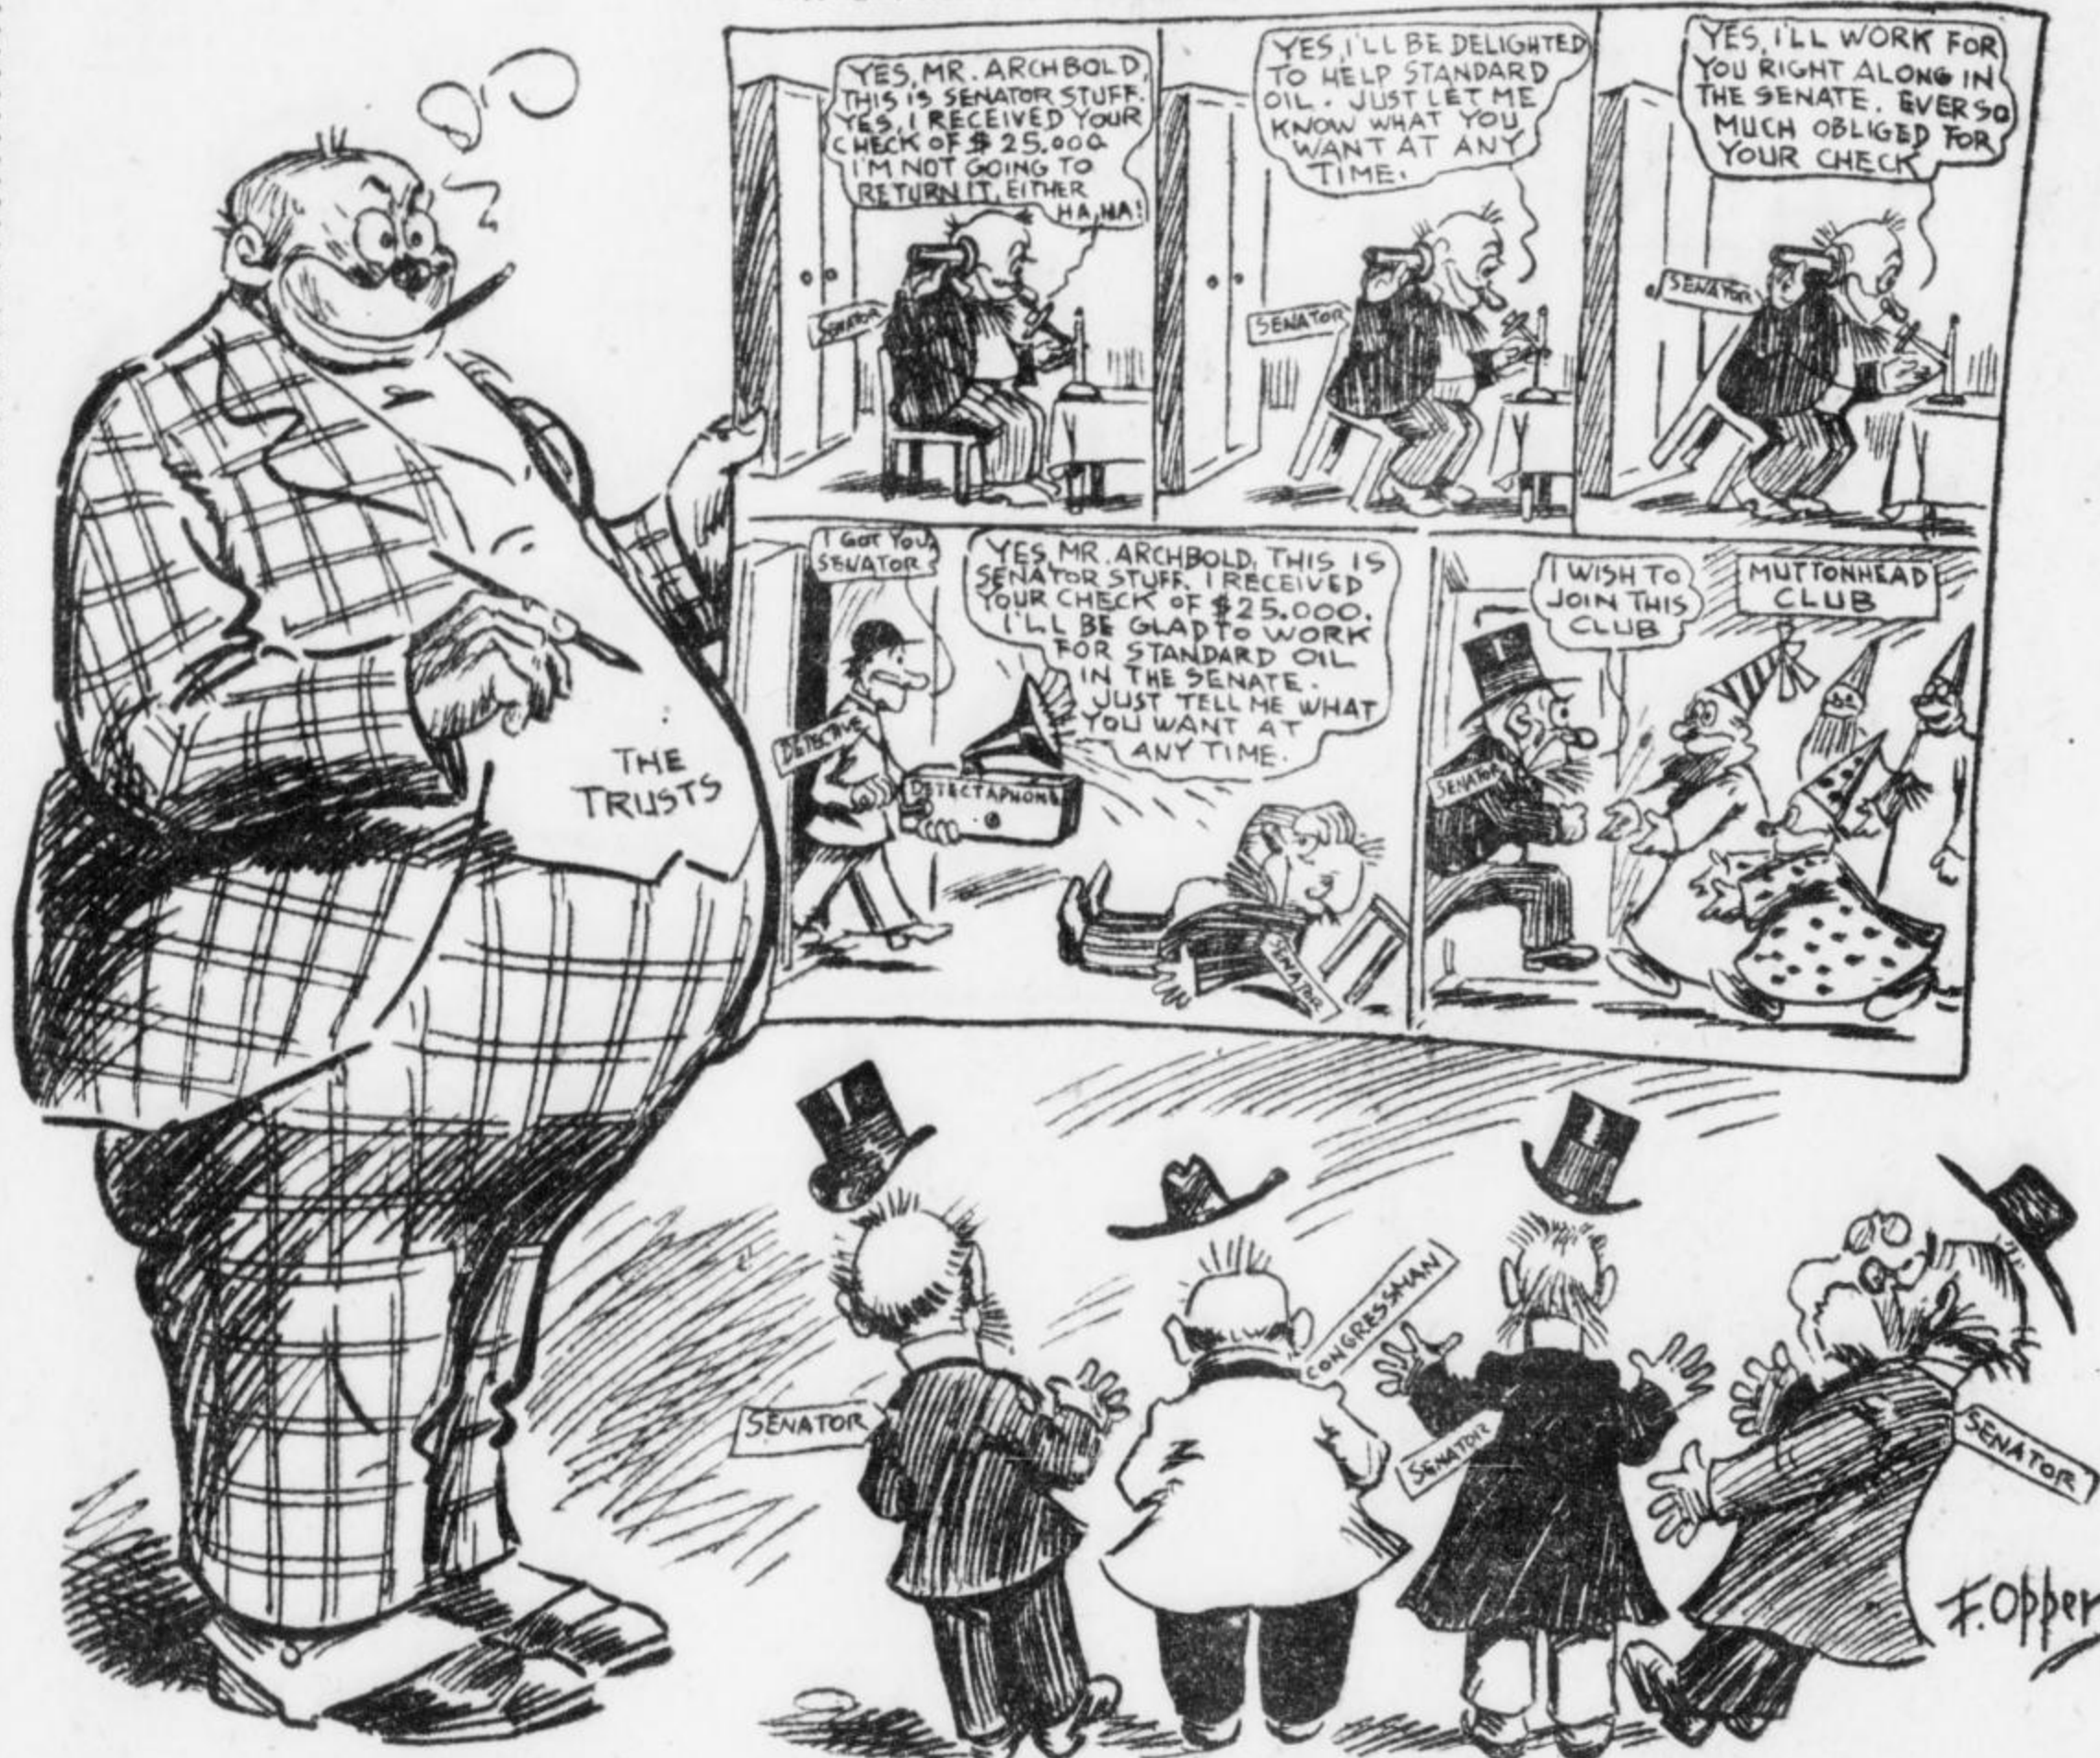

The six million farms of the country carry an average debt of $1,000. They support twenty million farm workers. They feed the hundred million Americans. And they pay an EXCESS INTEREST CHARGE OF 210 MILLION DOLLARS a year alone (8 1/2 per cent instead of 5 per cent), while the reserves of all the 7,473 national banks of the country, amounting at the last Comptroller's statement to 240 million dollars, are deposited under the law, in Central Reserve Cities for the benefit of speculators in stocks and bonds and to finance new trusts.

Is there anywhere such a perversion of government as this? Was any government ever guilty of more monstrous favoritism than the United States Government has long shown to the speculator and the banker, who by themselves create nothing, over the toiler and the actual producer, who by themselves produce everything that we eat or wear or require for our health or well-being?

Was there ever a monarchical government in the world so heartless and short-sighted as the Government of our own glorious country, when it takes the savings of poor people, who trust the Government more than the banks, and then uses those savings to show that the Government itself trusts the banks more than the people, and is willing that the banks and speculators shall prosper even at the expense of the people?

"Boys, this new invention they're using in political campaigns, called the 'detectaphone,' is something you had all better look out for! They hide it around the room somewhere, and it records every word you say! Then they expose you and put you on the slag pile! It's a sad story, mates! Here's a cartoon I've drawn showing what might happen to you when you get to talking with Johnny Archbold if you don't search the room first! One of the favorite maxims of Socrates was, 'He who talks freely and lets people get the goods on him is a boob!'"

The Wonders of X-Ray Photography

Photographs Now Reveal the Hidden Organs of Creatures Whose Entire Bodies Are as Minute as Pinheads.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THE great value of radiography, or X-ray photography, consists in the fact that it enables us to see the inside of things. It virtually realizes the old paradox of "seeing through a stone wall." There is, perhaps, no achievement of man that smacks more of magic than this. We can look at our own bones and hearts and lungs and watch our blood coursing through the veins and arteries of the living body.

I have recently described the improvements by means of which instantaneous photographs are now made of the internal organs and motion pictures are produced which show them in action as if the bodies of men had suddenly become transparent. But there is another thing, hardly less surprising, to be added. Radiography is now being applied to microscopic objects.

M. Pierre Goby, of Grasse, in France, has invented an apparatus by which magnified X-ray photographs of the interior of minute objects, and of the internal microscopic parts of larger objects, can be obtained. As M. Goby says, his process is, in effect "optical" dissection.

X-Ray Photos Reveal the Veins of a Leaf in All Their Complexity.

Take, for instance, a leaf, with all its fine interior veins. These veins are invisible to the eye, but "microradiography" reveals them in all their complexity without the necessity of destroying the leaf. This is a great boon to the botanist, who wishes to study the interior structure of plants.

M. Goby has produced magnified radiographs of the little creatures called foraminifera, which are mere pinpoints in size, and in these photographs the internal organs of the minute animals can be seen with astonishing distinctness. So, too, he has photographed small animals like snails inside their shells. The X-ray eye sees straight through the shells, and, by virtue of the different degrees of transmissibility which the various parts of the little animal present to the rays its entire internal structure is revealed in a sort of shadow picture, beautifully graduated, and from which nothing seems to be omitted. These photographs are so sharp that additional magnifying power may be applied in examining them.

Natural history, biology and geology all gain something from this new method of investigation. Hitherto it has been necessary in examining the interior of many organisms under the microscope to destroy them by cutting them into slices thin enough to be penetrated by ordinary light.

In this way it is impossible to see them just as they are in nature. Important parts are destroyed in the process of dissection, and the true relations of one part to another are often lost.

Nothing of this kind occurs when the objects are radiographed. Everything is seen in its proper place and form. Every step in the internal development and growth of the organism is revealed as if the observer were furnished with eyes that can see the inside as well as the outside of things, and at the same time magnify what they see.

When a minute snail, half as long as the nail of your little finger, draws himself into his shell he doubtless thinks that he is safe from prying eyes. But to the X-ray he is no more hidden than is the body of the traditional ostrich with its head buried in the sand. Not only does the micro-graph reveal him in his spiral house, but it brings into plain sight the internal organs of his body as well. He is naked, he is translucent, he is deprived of all privacy within and without; the refuge of opacity is no longer for him; he is disclosed to the very center of his being. And withal every part of him is magnified into greater conspicuousness. The same rays that reveal the secrets of his hidden body show all the convolutions of the shell that incloses him, its delicate gradations and its graceful interior curves. House and inhabitant are alike thrown open to a new mysterious day in which nothing can be concealed.

The ancient life of the globe, the life of creatures long since crused from the roll' of existing species, is revealed in like manner by microradiography.

Fossil Animals Sealed Up in Rocks Are Exposed.

The internal structure of little animals that perished millions of years ago and were sealed up in the rocks, preserved like the Pharaohs in their mummy rolls, is thrown open to the curious eyes of the naturalist. He can put aside his miniature saws, he no longer needs to cut his specimens into films, for now he can see them as they are, inside and outside.

No more is required to show how immensely important to science this new branch of radiography may become. And a better example could not be found of the spirit in which discovery and invention have clasped hands in this twentieth century.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON THE FRANK CASE

(From the Savannah News.) It is not surprising that counsel for the defense in the Frank case in Atlanta seized upon the statement of Judge Roan, to the effect that the evidence hadn't convinced him as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, in appealing to the Supreme Court for a new trial. To say the least, Judge Roan's statement was an unusual one for a trial judge to make. Whether the Supreme Court will consider it of importance in deciding the question as to whether a new trial should be granted remains to be seen. The prosecution, of course, will say that it was the jury's business to decide whether or not the accused was guilty, and that it didn't make any difference whether the judge was or was not convinced of his guilt. The already great interest in the question as to what the decision of the Supreme Court in the famous case will be is increased because of the Judge's remark.

Another issue in the Frank Case. (From the Macon News.) Judge Roan's obiter dictum in the Frank case has injected an unprecedented and what many believe is an unwarranted issue in that celebrated, though none the less sordid, court affair.

In overruling the motion for a new trial—an act that required courage, after the vigorously bitter fight made by Frank's counsel to have the trial court upset the verdict—Judge Roan said: "Gentlemen, I have thought about this case more than any other I have ever tried. I am not certain of this man's guilt. With all the thought I have put on this case I am not thoroughly convinced that Frank is guilty or innocent. The jury was convinced. There is no room to doubt that. I feel it is my duty to order that the motion for a new trial be overruled."

vinced that Frank is guilty or innocent. The jury was convinced. There is no room to doubt that. I feel that it is my duty to order that the motion for a new trial be overruled."

There are some who logically think that if the Judge really thought this way about it—and none can question his sincerity—he should have given Leo Frank a new trial. His remarks, to say the least, put him in the attitude of thinking one way and acting another.

Did Judge Roan Express the Truth? (From the Augusta Chronicle.)

But, after all, did not Judge Roan merely express the truth? Those who are adversely criticizing his honor should stop and think it over.

Judge Roan's Opinion. (From the Augusta Chronicle.)

Judge Roan displayed very bad taste and worse judgment in expressing an opinion of the innocence or the guilt of the defendant in the Frank case. It was a bad break and the Judge has really surprised his friends—Brunswick News. That to which The News refers is Judge Roan's words in refusing Frank a new trial. He said: "I have given this question long consideration. I have thought about this case more than any other I ever tried. I am not certain of this man's guilt. With all the thought I have put on this case, I am not thoroughly convinced that Frank is guilty or innocent. The jury was convinced. There is no room to doubt that. I feel it is my duty to order that the motion for a new trial be overruled."

DR. PARKHURST

Writes on Man's Animal Nature

Only by Constant Struggle Against This Instinct, He Declares, Can We Prevent Ourselves From Becoming Two-Footed Brutes.

By DR. CHARLES H. PARKHURST.

A MAN is not much but flesh. Indeed, all of him that is visible is flesh. And yet within that is something of which we can not speak very definitely except to say that it is there.

To take care of that something and to prevent it also from becoming flesh is one of the problems of life. It is a problem so difficult that some people fail to solve it and become flesh altogether; then we call them brutes, differing from ordinary brutes only in the fact that they go on two feet instead of four.

There are hundreds and thousands of people all around us who, judging from appearances, are pretty nearly reduced to that condition. Perhaps we do them injustice, but that is the way the thing looks. Appearances are often deceptive, and it is only fair to give every one all the credit that is possible.

It's as Much Nature for an Apple to Rot as to Ripen.

But when we meet, as we sometimes do, men and women whose only interest appears to be in what they eat and drink and in what they put on, one can not help noticing how much they resemble four-footed creatures whose wants are all satisfied if only their stomachs are filled and they have on sufficient fur or wool to keep them warm and a nest or a kennel so compact as to keep out the snow and rain, or if, like such creatures as peacocks, they have plumage sufficiently alluring to win the attention of the other sex.

The only object in writing in this way is to remind us all where it is that our danger lies.

We all start out in life with something besides the stuff that our bodies are made of, and of that something we can make more and more or less and less.

It will become less and less unless we take pains with it. We read in scientific books a great deal about development, and one might infer that our natural tendency is to become finer and finer, less and less animal and more and more human. Unfortunately for us, development works both ways; it works up and it also works down.

It is just as much in the order of nature for an apple to rot as it is for it to ripen, to grow bad as for it to become more luscious. And things become bad of themselves without having to have any attention given to them, but in order to become better a good deal of attention has to be given.

It is the same with a man as with an apple, or with anything else that has possibilities.

This something within our flesh that we call our humanness has got to be watched, taken care of and fostered. That is the only thing that will prevent our sagging lower and lower till we drop down into the region of dogs, snakes and gorillas. This same truth is taught in that Bible story of Christ's temptation in the wilderness, when the devil undertook to break Christ down by holding his attention off from his better self and trying to make him think about gratifying his animal impulses, and converting the stones, which lay about him, into bread.

There are hundreds and thousands of people all around us who, judging from appearances, are pretty nearly reduced to that condition. Perhaps we do them injustice, but that is the way the thing looks. Appearances are often deceptive, and it is only fair to give every one all the credit that is possible.

It is very true that we must not neglect the flesh.

The value and the growth of that in us which is not flesh will depend a good deal on our keeping the flesh in a good condition of repair and preservation.

The stomach must somehow be filled and the back must be covered to keep out the cold and the rain, and with a great many people, especially in times that are as difficult as these, that seems to be about all that it is possible for them to do.

And yet even they can not afford not to do something that will help to keep alive and to keep growing that spot in them, down somewhere in the midst of the flesh, where are housed the finer and the upward-looking impulses of our nature.

We all have them, and it is the salvation of our life to keep them nourished. Books also are inexpensive, and a single thought from some author who writes words that are living words, if only they be taken into the mind and held there, will bring in a new influence and put an altered complexion upon experience.

We Must Not Neglect the Growth of Flesh and Spirit.

To which Christ replied, "Man shall not live by bread alone."

Christ's reply to the devil is exactly in line with what these foregoing paragraphs have been trying to say, only he said it better than we can and more concisely.

It is very true that we must not neglect the flesh.

We Have Souls and We Can't Afford to Crucify Them.

And to do that requires but a moment; it need not interfere with the duties of our work-a-day life, but it is certain to raise the tone of that life; to give it a meaning that it can not have if there is nothing in it but the body and the toil, the servile toil, to which by necessity the body is so often bound down.

We have souls, and we can not afford to have them crucified either upon the cross of fleshly indulgence or upon that of industrial slavery.

THE CANDIDATE

By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

Behold the cheerful Candidate who hikes along the strand; He greets you with a fat cigar and shakes your honest hand; He asks you, "How is everything?" although he does not care if everything is awful or if everything is fair. He asks about your wife and child—he couldn't tell you why; You tell him you are single, but he heeds not your reply.

He asks you in to have a drink and makes it very clear. By his uneasy actions that he treats but once a year. He watches while you drink it, just as if he'd like to say, "I hope to get your vote; that's why I'm treating you to-day." He pays for what he purchased, lays down half a dollar more. Says "See what all the boys will have," then hurries through the door.

Behold the cheerful Candidate who bustles on his way. And treats you like a brother just before Election Day. He does not mean the handshake that he gives you now and then. But he is not so much unlike a lot of other men. This world is full of handshakers saluting you and me Who are not cheerful candidates, and never hope to be.
