Congress for the South.

All Georgia and all the South have cause to be enterested in the efforts of the Atlanta convention agreau to secure the 1915 bleamial meeting of the enterion Road Congress. This organization is one the most widely representative and potent of its ind in the world. It is the center of many affiliated enterprises such as the American Highway Association and the local good roads associations of more than twenty States. It assembles some three thousand delegaths from every corner of the Linda, side to the entered of the Congress of the Congress of the Congress and experts in highway development. Its presence in Atlanta would be not only a distinction to the good roads cause throughout the South.

The Congress meets this year from September.

The good road case throughout the South.

The Congress meets this year from September the twenty-sink to Getober the fourth at Detroit, Michigan. The Atlanta convention burreau is planning to concentrate all the energy and influence at its command in a campaign to bring the next session to the South. This . no easy task, for the American Road Congress is a prize among prizes and every extent tity in the Luion realities the advantage and the honor of securing so large and constructive a doly of men as its general Road Congress is a prize among prizes and every the control of the control of the Congress. The control of the Congress is a prize among the through the convention and with die support from her neighbors in Georgia and add, cent States alse will stand a favorable chance of retting the next meeting of the Congress.

Congress.

No section of the country is more ardently interested in read 'ill .ng than the South and none is more vitally dependent on better roads for economic and social progress. The value of Southern farms, the advancement of Southern commerce and education are all closely interweven with highway endeavors. Nowhere will the American Road Congress find a heartier welcome than in Atlanta and nowhere will its opportunity for service be richer than in the South.

Japan and China

Japan and China.

Japan lies most countries, has its plague of protessional war-seekers. The jingoes are now inflamed were the reported shibiting of a number of Japanese whibets during a fight between Chinese government troops and rebel forces in Nauthing. The more radteal newspapers in Tokio are said to be demanding military action and some of them go so far to urge the occupation of a Chinese port "until full repuration has been made."

Sensational chatter of this tone is not to be tion has been made."

Sensational chatter of this tone is not to be regarded as pressging any serious difficulty between thina and Japan. The gentrements of both maitons are under the guidance of prudent men who income are under the guidance of prudent men who income are under the guidance of prudent men who income and the saving grace of diplomeer. If Japanese subjects have been killed in the now extinction of the latter country will doubtless respect and antisty that the same and the same property and particularly the same and particularly particularly and particularly in the property of the particularly in the property of the particular particularly property and demonstratic diseas stands as a continual contrast to the tunperialistic regime in Japan. Its growing place in the world's regard bestire not little jediousy among those Japanese who hold narrow views of international affairs. Besides this, China is now rather subharrassed by financial problems and by its comparative undernilarity with a republican system of Government. The Japanese Jingoes probably reason that this is the time and the place to strike, if strike they can.

Contagious Prosperity.

Diogenes himself would forges his cynicism, fling away his tub ano fall to capering in the sunshine, could be return foday from the shadows beyond the Styx and pass an hour or two in the United States. The tang of cheer and prosperity that breathes through the land this autumn from sea to sea is irresistible even by the oldest, the drearlest apostles of Shoom.

A few days ago The Journal published columns of nterviews with Atlanta's merchants, bankers and eal estate dealers, all of whom described local con-litions as exceptionally assur. g and who predicted dilitions as exceptionally assur, g and who predicted a season of abundant business for the entire State-Atlanta, however, was born in optimism and remained so minded ,ver since. Even when hard times are knocking at the doors of other cittes, you will find the Atlantian moving briskly and contentedly shaded, for he knows that the inherent vicer and resources of this city are proof against the most untoward inducesos abroad.

But when we find the entire country volcing the same satisfaction and hope that are felt here and in Georgia at large, we may be sure that this optimism is no local or temporary impulse. The most gingerly and calculating papers in America are buoyant today with tidings of confidence. Even in the West where the drouths fell with real severity upoin grain crops, there is a general tone of assurance.

ance. There is certain to be a yield of grain, says the St. Louis Times, ample for domestic use and with a substantial curplus for export. "It is safe to anticipate a large output of corn than has yet been admitted by those engaged in picturing its destruction by drouth. Estimates are for about two and a half billion 'bashels, to which must be added a large surplus from the enormous yield last year. Wheat is assured in abundance.

These plentiful food crops supplemented by the south's cotton yield and provenents by a ready supply of money afford a bedrock basis for all the optimism that is now astir.

What's the score?

A kiss in the dark may be a divine spark of may be a mistake.

A Nation-Wide Demand.

A Nation-Wide Demand.

Through all the comment that has been made the country over, on the latest Nw Haven wreek, there runs a persistent Gemand for the replacement of wooden cars with cars of steel. On this point, the public mind is evidently way clear and vvery determined. If those great railway systems, which still elligs to obsolite equipment will not voluntarily avail themselves of modern cafeguards in behalf of their own as well as their patrion, interests, they should be compelled to do so by law.

It beems commonly agreed that this rearend collision on the New Haven would not have been a tithe so terrible in its sacrifice of life, had the coaches been of steel instead of wood. The Philadelphia Public Ledger calls attention to the fact that in a recent Pennoylvania wreck, exactly similar to that in the New Haven line, more than one hundred and fifty passengers were only slightly injured and not one suffered a broken bone. The difference lay in the circumstance that the cars involved in the Pennsylvania accident vere made of steel and were, therefore, proof against the tremendous shock. The wooden cars, on the contrary, were merely so much pastelloward under the engine which cleaved them.

These two cases of one-train at high speed telescoping another, supply an unanascrable argument," sups the Ledger, "in favor of steel cars. Steel cars cost the railroads on immense sum of money but they protect human life."

It is doubtful if in the long run, the cost of steel cars. Wend car cost the railroads on immense sum of money but they protect human life."

It is doubtful if in the long run, the cost of steel cars. Steel cars cost the which Wall Street speculators have sacrificed this great line.

Senator Newlands Stands By the Party.

Stalled By the Party.

Democratic leaders are much relieved by Senator Newland's assuring statement that he will stand by the administration's tariff bill when it counts to a final vote. Indeed, it has never been his purpose, says the Nevada Senator, to make any fight on the bill outside the party ranks, though he will persist in his effort to effect certain changes within the caucus. With the slendtr majorit* they now have in the Senate, the Democrats are naturally concerned over the safety of the tariff measure. Had Senator Newlands failed the party in the eleventh hour, the results might have been keenly discomforting. His attitude, however, is one of workmanly patriotism. He will not press his individual views to the point of defeating tariff reform.

What a pity the Louisiana Senators could not adopt this wise course.

A Wrong Idea

Some persons are trying to spread, abroad the idea that it is useless for a workingman to try to save money because if he does save, his wages will be reduced proportionally. This is false reasoning. The thrifty man is the best workman and all employers recognize that fact, as one of them has said: "We are always glad that an employe has a savings account, for then we know that there is a strong influence at work developing his character and adding the control of the

Horoscope

SEPTEMBER 7.
Persons of this birthdate should choose a public career. If awake to choose a public career. If awake to them, they will be able to make money and hold their friends.
But if they are not awake, those people are apt to be 'know-it-alis,' very dominenting and overbasing and destroy their own interests by their attitude.

They love wealth and position and have false pride and ambition. They are very critical- and their habit of picking everything and every one to pieces makes them dis-agreeable companions.

egressions companions.

They are apt to judge harshly and without a Keen sense of fairness.

The governing planet of this birthdate is Mercury, and the governing sign of this planet is Virgo, meaning "the hidden fires of the earth."

This sign governs the birthdates of such people as Jane Addams, William H. Taft, James K. Hackett and many other famous men and women.
